U.S. Paratroopers
Kill 292 in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. paratroopers all but wiped out a determined battalion of North Vietnamese regulars today after two days of bitter fighting, a military spokesman reported. He said the enemy left 292 dead strewn over a five-mile battlefield in the central highlands after offering stiff resistance.

The picture given by the U.S. spokesman indicated a significant victory over the enemy troops after a weeklong lull in ground action in South Viet Nam.

Reds Hit Back

The Communists hit back with a blistering mortar attack on a U.S. military advisers' compound in the Mekong Delta, killing some Americans.

A squadron of helicopters poured more men of the 101st Airborne Brigade into the raging fight 260 miles northeast of Saigon as South Viet Nam's political crisis took a calmer turn.

The moderate leader of the Buddhist Institute called for a halt to rioting and human sacrifices but said his followers will continue to struggle in a "nonviolent spirit" to overthrow Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's regime.

The declaration by Thich Tam Chau, chief architect of an abandoned political truce with the military junta last week, promised continued efforts to overthrow less dangerous civil unrest as the ruling generals prepared for national elections Sept. 11.

Begins Tuesday

The bitter fighting in Kontum Province began before dawn Tuesday when a North Vietnamese attack on a valley camp of the American "Screaming Eagles" backfired on the Communists, breaking a week-long lull in the ground war.

The Americans struck back with planes and troops, routing the North Vietnamese unit which was estimated to have been 1,000 men.

Strike Closes
W-U Office Here,
Throughout State

Joseph A. Vidal of Hurley, manager of the Kingston office of the Western Union, 237 Fair Street, said this morning the office was closed because of a nationwide strike against operations of the company.

The AFL-CIO Commercial Telegraphers Union struck the company at 12:01 a. m. (EDT) in accordance with a telegram sent to all union locals by the union negotiating committee which said talks were deadlocked.

20,000 Involved

The strike involves about 20,000 employees of Western Union in all areas except New York City, where the company's employees are represented by another union.

According to The Associated Press, the union is demanding a 6 per cent pay raise for all employees, who now average $2.52 an hour. The last company offer yesterday was a 4 per cent hike in wages, according to E. L. Hageman, president of the union.

The union wants another 6 per cent pay increase in the second year of a two-year contract, while the company has offered 3.9 per cent, Hageman said.

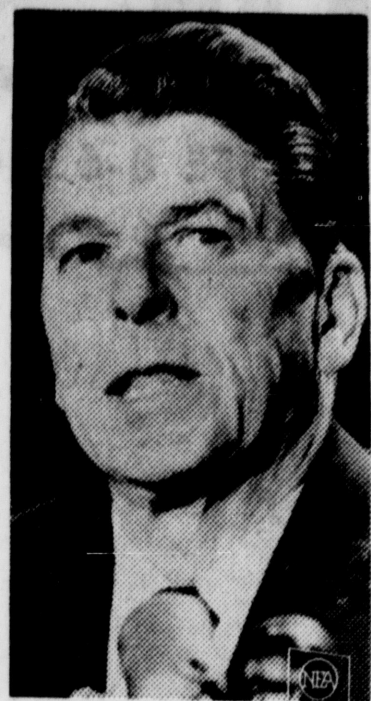

The union president said the company's negotiators were strongly pressing the argument that the settlement could be close to President Johnson's wage guideline seeking to limit increases to 3.2 per cent a year.

Hageman was quoted as saying, "Our answer is that our members cannot eat an economic theory. He cited rising living costs."

In Albany, The Associated Press reported labor and company officials agree that businesses in New York State will be struck hard.

About 55 union members walked off their jobs in Albany as picket lines formed across the Unstate area at midnight. A company spokesman said such

Actor Wins
Nomination
In Primary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ronald Reagan ran away with the Republican nomination for governor of California today and pledged to unite the party for a November challenge to Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's bid for a third term.

Reagan's overwhelming defeat of former San Francisco mayor George Christopher — and Los Angeles mayor Samuel W. Yorty's strong showing against Brown — prompted the governor to admit that he's got "a tough fight" ahead.

Would Be First

Never before in California history has a Democratic governor won a third term. Brown is the first Democrat in more than 100 years to serve two terms.

Reagan, the youthful looking, 55-year-old television and movie star, moved to the front of his party in his first bid for public office.

Brown, whose aides had predicted an easy win over Yorty, saw the Los Angeles mayor accumulate a heavy vote in popular Southern California. But the governor defeated Yorty by a comfortable margin.

That's where Reagan piled up a massive margin against Christopher. Brown, however, will take a Democratic registration edge of slightly more than 3-2 with him into the runoff.

This was the vote: Republican — with 21,185 of 30,586 precincts reporting, Reagan 1,070,052. Christopher 471,988.

Democrats — with 22,415 of 30,586 precincts counted, Brown 936,423. Yorty 684,737.

As the vote mounted against him, Christopher, 58, stepped before his followers at campaign headquarters in San Francisco and declared he was

District Schools

Voters in the Central School District 2W, Towns of Wawarsing and Rochester in Ulster County and Matamoras, Sullivan County, will have to go to the polls a third time to ballot on the proposed budget for 1966-67.

A tentative budget of $2,286,888 for the next school year, an increase of $132,916 above the $2,153,972 budget approved for 1965-66, was defeated Tuesday by a vote of better than two to one. School officials said the vote was 649-315.

The Board of Education of the school district will meet Tuesday, June 14 to discuss future steps and possibly consider changes in the 1966-67 budget.

The sum of $28,703 had been deleted from the tentative budget submitted to the voters on

Announce Sept. 1 Target
For Start of UR HousingReport Human Mistake Caused
Problem for Gemini Docking

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Someone taped four separation devices to a protective shroud instead of fastening them firmly to disconnect plugs.

It was a human error that cost the Gemini 9 astronauts a chance to dock with their target satellite.

Here is an anatomy of that error:

The background: The satellite, called ATDA for augmented target docking adapter, was launched a week ago today. There was an indication that perhaps a shroud covering the docking collar on the ATDA had not jettisoned.

Stalled Two Days

Gemini 9 astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan, stalled two days by a guidance problem, took off in pursuit of the satellite Friday.

When they caught it, they found that indeed the 117-inch spun glass shroud was still in place. But it had started the separation process and its two clamshell halves were parted. Stafford radioed that it looked like an "angry alligator," a description that will live long in the annals of space.

With the docking collar covered, the astronauts had to abandon the linkup attempt. They went on to conduct different types of rendezvous with the ATDA and to Cernan's record space walk.

The quick look: Stafford told ground stations that the shroud appeared to be hung up by four bundles of electrical wires and also said it appeared that small lanyards might not have been connected properly. Cernan snapped several close-in pictures of the shroud.

Designed For Purpose

The lanyards, about the size of a six-inch-long soda straw, were designed to be hooked to disconnect plugs and to yank them out during the separation sequence, which is triggered by firing explosive bolts.

The four plugs were joined to bundles of wires which provided a power relay for the separation sequence. With the lanyards not connected, they could not pull out the plugs and the shroud hung up on the wires.

The official report: With Stafford's information, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration ran back through the history of the shroud and learned some interesting things.

It did not report the whole story, but a vague statement admitted that someone erred. The statement, released Tuesday several hours after some news media carried some facts about the situation, said:

"An error in the separation procedure prior to launch was

Hold Up Mississippi
March at Ambush Site

HERNANDO, Miss. (AP) — Chiefs of the nation's five big civil rights commands gathered north of here today to continue the crusade on foot through Mississippi attempted by James Meredith.

While Negroes marshaled their forces, hospital officials in Memphis indicated Meredith might be released today.

No Word Received

There was no word on where Meredith would go, if released.

The heads of several civil rights groups picked up Meredith's march Tuesday from the point where Meredith was wounded, and one was shoved to the ground when highway patrolmen ordered them onto the shoulder of the highway.

Gov. Paul Johnson condemned the march but promised police protection for it.

Five Negro leaders combined forces to carry on the 225-mile walk to Jackson, Miss., started by Meredith and interrupted by three shotgun blasts.

Aubrey J. Norvell, 40, a Memphis white man accused of assault with intent to murder in the wounding of Meredith with birdshot, was held under $25,000 bond. His lawyers were drafting an appeal to have the bond reduced.

3 Bus Loads Arrive

Three bus loads of sympathizers from Chicago will join the march soon, said Floyd McKissick, head of the Congress of Racial Equality.

"We have made a national call for people to come," said Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. "The number will grow every day."

In Jackson, Gov. Johnson issued a plea for residents to "ignore completely these exhibitionists" and said he would use any state power to keep the peace — presumably including the National Guard.

"Sufficient patrolmen and other state forces will be used to see that these demonstrators get all the marching they want, provided they behave themselves, commit no acts of violence, nor take a position of provocative defiance," he said.

The walk by Meredith, 33, the Seventeen of those admitted to citizenship were residents of Ulster county and seven were residents of Sullivan county. Two petitioners were absent.

Following the recommendation of examiner to Supreme Court Justice Koreman, the oath of allegiance was administered to the new citizens by the clerk of the court. JAMES HOFFA

Makes Move
To Dim Bid
Of Opponent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa moved today to crush the bid of Vice President Harold Gibbons to grab the reins of the giant union if Hoffa goes to prison.

The twice-convicted Hoffa predicted Gibbons will drop his plan to run for the new post of executive vice president at the union's July 4 convention in Miami Beach.

Offers Doubt

"He won't even run," Hoffa told a newsman. "I'd be the most amazed man in the world if he did." Earlier, Hoffa said "I doubt if he gets 175 votes" at the convention.

Convention delegates, who are sure to re-elect Hoffa to another five-year term, will have 2,200 votes.

But whoever wins the executive vice presidency could wind up running the 1.7-million-member union — the world's largest.

Hoffa, awaiting a Supreme Court review of his eight-year jury tampering conviction, wants Detroit Vice President Frank Fitzsimmons to have the post, automatically becoming president if Hoffa goes to prison.

Wanted Caretaker

Hoffa reportedly wants Fitzsimmons to serve as a caretaker only until he got out of prison and could resume power.

Hoffa aides disclosed that a resolution to change the union's constitution will provide that no one can run for both vice president and the new post of executive vice president.

Thus Gibbons, former close associate and one-time potential heir-apparent to Hoffa, would lose his seat on the union's executive board if he lost his bid for executive vice president.

Already waiting in the wings to run for Gibbons' present post as 10th vice president is Roy Williams, president of the Central States Highway Drivers Council and of the Kansas City Teamsters Council.

Backed by Hoffa

Williams apparently is backed by Hoffa in the effort to force Gibbons from power.

"Gibbons knew there was that risk," said a Gibbons supporter. He added, however, that Gibbons had not been aware that in running for executive vice president he would automatically lose his post as one of 13 regular vice presidents.

Gibbons would, however, retain his posts as secretary-treasurer of the Teamsters Central States Council.

Bids May Be Opened
On Aug. 15Council Answered
On Project Plans

A big question at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting was when is a housing project due to start in downtown's Broadway East urban renewal project area.

It was answered in effect today by local officials who indicated that Sept. 1 is the date aimed at.

Want Information

Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, asked the question with a bid for other information on urban renewal, and Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward put a like question indicating that Emilio A. Primo Jr. (D) Fourth Ward was also interested in learning when housing was to start. Epstein said people of the area who were involved in urban renewal were entitled to know.

Both Eric Hemphill, executive director of the UR Agency and Alexander Yosman, executive director of the Kingston Housing Authority, today indicated that a Sept. 1 date is aimed at but progress toward it depended upon several future conditions.

Alderman Gallo, in his statement last night said: "I have a few questions that I can't seem to get answered concerning urban renewal. Perhaps you (Alderman-at-Large Francis R. Koenig) could be of some assistance to me in clearing up and helping to obtain the correct answers. My questions are:

1. When will actual construction begin of housing in the Broadway East project. No approximations from the director. When?

2. How much money has been paid to Raymond & Fay (planning consultants) since the very conception of urban renewal here in our city to the present day?

3. How much help is expected by our Urban Renewal Agency and what is the weekly payroll or pay period total payroll?

4. What was the actual demolition bid, and who was actually doing the work? Firm or company name please.

5. May any parcel or property that was in the original bid for demolition be withdrawn, and if so what would the amount be deducted from the original bid?

Koenig said the housing phase of urban renewal was to be discussed at a June 2 meeting of urban renewal and housing officials and aldermen.

Boys Wreck Buses, Must Wash Them

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Two teen-agers who pleaded guilty to ripping wires in 30 school buses will wash the vehicles June 24 as part of their court sentence.

In addition, Peace Justice Sebastian Lombardi of Niagara Falls also ordered James T. Bush Jr., 19, and William A. Carver, 18, both of nearby Lewiston, to spend five weekends in the Niagara County jail, to share in $250 restitution and to each pay a $100 fine.

The pair was sentenced Tuesday after pleading guilty to the malicious mischief charge.

The buses of the Lewiston-Porter Central School District were damaged on June 2.

Two other teen-agers also were given the same sentence previously after they pleaded guilty to a similar charge.

Bush lives at 496 Urban Drive, and Carver at 444 Kenwood Drive.

Brydges Has Foe Left Off Ballot

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges' opponent in the June 28 primary election has been ruled off the ballot by the office of the Secretary of State.

The state agency upheld Brydges' challenge Tuesday to the nominating petitions filed by E. Philip Settimi, a Niagara Falls Republican.

Settimi had filed for the Republican nomination in new 52nd Senate district. Brydges, who lives in Wilson, seeks re-election in the district.

John Ghezzi, deputy secretary of state, ruled that more than half of 839 signatures on Settimi's petitions were invalid.

He also threw out petitions Settimi had filed for the Conservative Party nomination and for designation as a delegate to the Republican state convention.

It takes between 18 to 20 months to manufacture snuff, a powdered preparation which involves grinding the tobacco and fermenting it. Inhaling snuff became common in England around the turn of the 17th century and became universal during the 18th century. At first snuff users carried their own graters, which were often decorated with the art and craft of the miniature painter, the enameler, jeweler, goldsmith and silversmith.

Arthur Godfrey Lands After 87-Hour Flight

NEW YORK (AP) — A twin-jet private plane with entertainer Arthur Godfrey at the controls landed at La Guardia airport Tuesday night, completing an around-the-world flight begun from La Guardia 87 hours earlier.

Godfrey and four fellow pilots brought their Commander down at 11:18 p.m. (EDT) two minutes ahead of schedule. They had left at 9:09 a.m. Saturday and made 19 stops.

A spokesman for the Rockwell-Standard Corp., claimed the flight set 21 world records. The unofficial flying time was 57½ hours.

500 Atlanta Firemen Reject Plea and Strike

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — About 500 of Atlanta's 728 firemen have gone on strike in a dispute over wages and hours.

They rejected a plea by Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. Tuesday night to return to work. Some booed him as he spoke to them in a union hall.

The city obtained an injunction from Fulton County Superior Court Judge Virlyn Moore ordering the firemen to return to work and forbidding them to resign en masse.

The injunction is directed against the Atlanta Firefighters Union, independent, formed two months ago. The firemen meet today, and union officials talk with the mayor and city officials later.

The city, which has more than 500,000 within its corporate limits, improvised its overnight fire protection, spreading those firemen remaining on duty around the various stations and pressing policemen into service.

Airport officials assigned several maintenance men to duty in case of emergency. Air traffic was not disrupted.

Officers Remain

Capt. James I. Martin, union president, said firemen remaining on their jobs were "mainly superior officers and those who have only a few months to make their pensions. They are there and that's their problem," he said.

Martin said the union would respect any court order but would rely on the advice of its attorney in obeying the order, obtained Tuesday night. The attorney, Robert Mitchell, said he didn't want to comment on the injunction because he had not seen it.

The firemen at first were asking for reduction of a 60-hour week to 56 hours, Martin said, with time and one-half pay for work over 40 hours, and a $100 a month raise. The firemen's present base pay is $1.5 an hour with top pay of $1.91 an hour. They have 20 days per year paid vacation, Lt. Martin said it actually is less than this.

"Now we're just asking for shorter hours and higher pay in general," he said.

William Buck, president of the International Association of Fire Fighters, AFL-IO, said Tuesday night in New Albany, Ind., the Atlanta walkout apparently is the first strike of fire fighters against an American city in more than 40 years. Buck also said no group of firemen had ever won a strike.

FRENCH EYE THE H-BOMB

When it comes to sharing nuclear weapons data with France, the United States has been downright niggardly. There are good reasons for this. U.S. policy is against fostering the spread of such weapons, even among our allies.

Our reticence about nuclear know-how has not kept the French from finding out on their own. Proceeding thus, they already have detonated nuclear devices.

Most recently, the French have been working on development of a hydrogen bomb. In this connection it is well to remember that the United States had such a bomb all to itself not many years ago—until the Soviet Union, to the surprise of most Americans, demonstrated that it also had developed this cataclysmic explosive. Now the French are bent on duplicating this feat.

No informed person would bet on their failing to do so, despite lack of help from the United States. When our government refused France the large computers necessary for this enterprise, the French went ahead by enlisting all the available smaller computers in their country and pooling the results. By dint of this and other exercises of ingenuity, the French are getting along without us, and now expect to explode an H-bomb early in 1968. They probably will do so.

Two conclusions can be drawn from what has happened. France has shown what can be done when a modern nation sets out to develop its own nuclear weapons system. Others could do likewise if they decided it was important enough. The second conclusion is that, in view of this, achieving an international agreement halting the spread of nuclear weapons should have high priority. The alternative is a world in which not three or four or five but perhaps a dozen nations will have some nuclear capability. That would be an even more dangerous world than the one we now live in.

Four charged with plotting Mobutu's death are arrested Monday, condemned Tuesday, hanged Thursday. Wednesday was needed for getting together a crowd.

The remainder of this year, a million more bombs will be produced for the Viet Nam war. At one bomb per truck, that works out to a lot of Viet Cong trucks.

THE AMA ON CAR SAFETY. The Journal of the American Medical Association underscored two significant points in its current editorial on auto safety. It took a potshot at over-dependence on the soothing thought that "the nut behind the wheel" is the villain. It also offered instructive observations on the "second collision" problem.

The Journal made this enlightening comment on a favorite thesis of those who resist pressure for auto design and engineering improvement as a way to reduce the accident toll: "Directing attention to 'the nut behind the wheel' is worthwhile as long as we do not permit two fallacies to direct research policy. The first fallacy is that identifying all 'nuts' (however one defines the term) is possible. The second fallacy is that, even if possible, this identification could be used so as to prevent all or most traffic accidents." In short: Finding all the "nuts" is difficult, and getting them to be less nutty might be even harder.

This returns the focus to means of making cars less dangerous, so that accidents will do less damage. As the AMA Journal notes, most research has been concentrated on the "first collision" involving the vehicle itself. It calls for more research on the so-called "second collision," which occurs when occupants of the car are thrown out by the impact, or hurled against objects inside it.

What studies have been done in this area make it plain that precautions could be

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE HOUSEWIVES WILL DECIDE

The sun shines in California; the crops ripen. And the elemental warfare over farm worker policy between two tenacious men, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and U.S. Senator George Murphy, goes on.

The contest is being fought over the prostrate bodies of California farmers, and it will ultimately be decided on points, by the housewives of America rendering the decision. The farmers need a steady supply of harvest labor, which was formerly taken care of by bracero migrants from Mexico. Last year Secretary Wirtz, with the abstractly commendable idea of providing jobs at a specified minimum of $1.40 an hour for American citizens, invoked the prerogative granted to him by the U. S. Congress to send the braceros back across the border. He got a break when California's tomatoes ripened at an even pace in cool weather, which allowed the newfangled mechanical pickers to harvest the crop without smashing it and strewing the fields with premature catnip. But this year Senator Murphy has been winning the early rounds of the renewed battle.

The first 1966 crisis occurred in strawberries. Unable to lure enough berry pickers from the cities, the Salinas strawberry growers were crying to high heaven for Secretary Wirtz to relent a bit. Grudgingly our Labor Secretary gave ground; in early May he agreed to let 1,000 supplemental farm workers come in from Mexico for a six-week period to save the strawberries for housewives who have been getting mighty tired of the way fruit and vegetable prices are edging up in the markets. This put Senator Murphy ahead on points.

With asparagus, at the moment of writing, it looks like another set of points for the Senator. In 1965 the California asparagus growers pleaded in vain for enough help to get their crop to market. The housewives of the nation paid at the supermarkets for the paucity of workers. In April of 1966, asparagus was selling for $6 a crate; in April of 1965 this was up to $6.75. In April of 1966 the price had jumped to $9.00 a crate. As of late May, Wirtz was still insisting that the asparagus growers could get by on domestic labor. But Senator Murphy was beseeching the Secretary to permit 2,500 Mexican braceros to come in and save "more than $6 million of asparagus" that would be lost without supplemental labor.

Wirtz's contention is that the asparagus growers haven't really worked at recruiting native Americans. The growers resent the imprecachment; they insist that they have tried. A. R. Durate, manager of San Joaquin Farm Production Association, told Murphy that the industry has spent $85,000 in recruitment efforts both in the California cities and in places as far away as Texas and Hawaii. "Workers," said Mr. Durate, "did not stay long enough on the job to recover transportation and subsistence advances."

By the time this column can achieve print Wirtz may have let in some more Mexicans. In his own roundabout way California's Governor Edmund ("Pat") Brown has certified to a Wirtz booby in estimating the willingness of native Americans to cut asparagus. Five hundred prisoners have had to be furloughed from California's penal institutions to provide asparagus harvest labor in the Stockton area. Their pay is above the minimum wage. "The inmates," says the Governor, "were sent to the fields only after an exhaustive search in California and in other states failed to produce enough American farm workers."

California labor doesn't like the idea of competition from prisoners. But Governor Brown claims the project of using inmates was approved by labor officials in the Stockton region.

In any case, it's been a mess—and Senator Murphy has scored by pointing it out. Tomatoes, in California, come next. The tomato growers have increased their acreage this year. If they get perfect weather, they may make a killing with their new picking machinery. But the mechanical tomato picker can't handle overripe fruit. It would be only sensible for Wirtz to allow for some stand-by Mexican bracero help. But he is apparently too proud to be flexible. As one of Senator Murphy's legislative assistants says, "Wirtz hasn't got an apology in his system."

Next November, however, the housewives may make Wirtz wish he had been able to bend a bit. For if LBJ suffers at the polls, Wirtz will be hearing not only from Republican Senator Murphy but from the White House itself.

The DOCTOR SAYS

Prospective Motorcyclists Need Special Instruction

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D., Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This is a world wherein things are constantly changing and often the changes sneak up on us so gradually that we are unaware of them. For example, five years ago motorcycle accidents were relatively rare. Then, several cheap, lightweight, foreign motorcycles appeared on the scene and the annual death toll soared to 1,500 a year with indication that it will get worse before it gets better—in other words before the public becomes sufficiently aroused to do something about it.

This increase in motorcycle deaths is only part of the story. Thousands of persons—mostly thrill-seeking teenagers—come out of motorcycle accidents alive but badly mangled for life. If you drive your automobile into a brick wall at a speed of 15 m.p.h. and are wearing a seat belt, you will be shaken up and your car will be a mess but your injuries will be slight, if any. Try the same maneuver with a motorcycle and you will fly through the air with the greatest of ease and with a minimal chance of survival.

Most youngsters who have passed their driving tests to operate the family car do not realize that there is very little similarity between the operation of an automobile and a two-wheeled vehicle. It takes careful instruction and time to learn to operate a motorcycle safely.

According to the National Safety Council, most motorcycle dealers do not give such instructions and many of them don't even know the rules of safety. That means that your son will probably have to learn by trial and error—a hazardous business at best.

The booklet, "Two-Wheeled Wisdom," published by the American Motorcycle Association should be carefully studied by all prospective motorcyclists. Adherence to its precepts would drastically cut the accident rate.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns. taken. "The interior of our cars," says the AMA Journal editorial, "must be stripped of sharp handles and protruding knobs. Adequate padding must be provided throughout the automobile. The chest-crushing potentiality of the steering column must be eliminated." These are first steps, but important ones. Their advocacy by the prestigious AMA Journal gives the recommendation particular weight.

Moment of Truth

Washington News

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT, Washington Correspondent, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) —The position of the more militant civil rights groups is deteriorating.

The turn toward black nationalism by the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee (SNICK) is viewed by many Negro leaders as the worst sign of the decline. The refrain heard often is: "They're outside the movement now...they're just not in it...they've painted themselves into a corner."

Efforts by the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) to detach itself dramatically from the general tenor of the White House Conference on Civil Rights are seen by more moderate Negro spokesmen as far less damaging than SNICK's course—but nevertheless indicative of a kind of floundering futility.

Both these organizations have gone through the convulsion of a leadership change, and both are in serious financial straits.

THEIR PROBLEM, as looked at by people within the civil rights movement, is simple but painfully fundamental. They have not figured out a sensible way to hold onto their identity as fiery militants at a time when the major stress has shifted from street demonstrations to the unglamorous business of actually providing better jobs, schooling and housing for Negroes.

The militant posture of SNICK and CORE disposes them against today's necessary undertaking—the sleeves-up, around-the-table co-operation with white leaders which holds some hope of yielding slow but real solutions.

To fuse into this effort is, by their lights, to forfeit their special image, to become weak copies of the Urban League and the NAACP.

Yet it is not at all clear that the opposing course they have chosen offers them anything but the shakiest and most uncertain future. The more extreme SNICK, as here indicated, already is seen as beyond the pale.

NOT WIDELY REALIZED is the fact that virtually all major civil rights organizations draw a majority of their support money from non-Negro sources. To scorn white assistance and friendship as insincere and insufficient, as SNICK and some others are now doing, is judged by moderate leaders as self-defeating.

One Negro of responsible status dismissed as "judicious" the talk by SNICK's new leader, Stokely Carmichael, of building a countervailing "black power structure" to extract necessary concessions from a nation which is 9-to-1 white.

There is some belief in civil rights circles that this burst of black nationalism is not seriously intended, that it is just a way of "keeping separate from the pack" while a more relevant militancy can perhaps be figured out.

The complaint of SNICK and CORE, is that there is no urgency and no bent toward real action in a White House conference or other white-Negro co-operative effort, that these attempts raise expectations among frustrated Negroes but do not fulfill them.

MODERATES ARGUE that it would take at least as long, and possibly much longer, to erect an all-black economic and political power structure. The city of Atlanta, admired for its racial progress, has a sturdy Negro establishment. It was decades in the making.

To offer this, then, as the truly urgent route to Negro satisfaction is regarded by the moderates as a far more foolish raising of expectations.

Furthermore, a common judgment among responsible civil rights leaders is that no kind of black independence within a largely white nation would produce desired results. In Atlanta, the Negro "power structure" achieves useful ends by steady political and economic collaboration with the city's moderate white middle-class elements. If that bond were broken, progress would be throttled.

Says one white leader: "To polarize the races through advocacy of black nationalism simply means the perpetuation of segregation."

Many civil rights leaders have sympathy for the militants in their plight—knowing they reflect the frustrations of countless Negroes. Yet the conviction is that fiery militancy, though it may stiffen moderates' back a little, is no longer providing useful answers of its own.

Brutal Shooting of Meredith Shows Need for Arms Control

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It is not surprising that James Meredith was brutally attacked on his march in Mississippi. For, regrettably, the United States is a crime-ridden country where firearms can be possessed by many irresponsible persons in all parts of the country.

Every day tragedies are recorded. Crimes continue among persons of every race and color. Last Sunday a woman with two children, entering a church in Lansing, Mich., was suddenly abducted by a man with a gun. Murders in congested sections of big cities are numerous. Can responsibility really be placed on current controversies on public questions? Isn't it a fact that individuals on the borderline of insanity are permitted to roam the country to inflict harm on innocent persons?

Perhaps the most dramatic example of such a crime was the assassination of President Kennedy by a young man who had been a Communist but who was soon absolved of having been motivated by international politics or any public grievance. The murder of Mr. Kennedy was generally attributed to a deranged man who had acted without reference to any controversial views.

An Isolated Incident. Attorney General Katzenbach said on Tuesday that the shooting of Meredith was an "isolated" incident. He called the occurrence "so absolutely—I don't want to use insane in the literal sense—so unpredictable with all those police around." There is no record that Aubrey James Norvell, who was arrested and accused of the crime, has been active in the civil-rights controversy.

There is always a fear that persons who are being prominently mentioned in the news will be the victims of assault. Threatening letters are constantly received concerning possible attack on high government officials. Most of these come from individuals of unbalanced mind who, if they possess lethal weapons, may take potshots at anybody whose name they have read in the papers.

The answer is not to be found by making blanket indictments of the people of any state or community. The attack on Meredith is deplored by citizens everywhere, irrespective of their views on the controversial race question. There will be those who will say that Meredith should never have attempted a march under conditions of tension. But it is a reflection on all government in America—Federal, State and City—that people cannot walk the streets of cities or the highways with any assurance that they will not be the victims of criminal attack.

Will Recover. James Meredith, it is reported, will soon recover from the attack and be able to resume his march in a few days. He will get more attention. Indeed, he might never have attracted such interest except for the erratic behavior of his assailant, who has suddenly given Meredith worldwide publicity.

Immediately after Monday's tragic episode Martin Luther King, Jr. and Floyd McKissick, the head of the Congress of Racial Equality, announced they would lead an immediate march through rural Mississippi. Dr. King seems to feel that somehow President Johnson is to blame for not acting more decisively in the past and for not granting more support to the demands of civil-rights organizations.

"We are going to put President Johnson on the spot," said King. He had a civil rights conference the other day and now we are demanding immediate action from the Federal government. We need help and we need it now. His words cannot stop bullets."

There has been throughout the world an unfavorable reaction to the shooting. The Soviet news agency, for instance, quotes Dr. King's statement that "the Federal government must assume as much responsibility... as a society which offers sanctuary to those who advocate violence."

The fact remains that neither can crusades or demonstrations "stop bullets" when they are fired by individuals with the distorted mind of an Oswald or a Norvell. Restrictions on the widespread distribution of shotguns, rifles and revolvers to persons unfit to use them would do some good. But in the long run, crime will not be wiped out until individual behavior is improved and better training is afforded the youth of the country in their homes and in their communities. Jim Bishop: Reporter

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The big old-fashioned room in the Hotel Washington overlooks the roof of the Treasury Department and the White House. The roof is sheet copper. The sun and the snows have tinted it green. This matches the complexion of some of Lyndon Johnson's critics. Not all. Just some.

Envy is a vicious emotion. It feeds on itself. There are a lot of people in this town who would like to see the President out from under that copper roof and someone else in. Time or death always changes the tenants, but I have never known a President to be as weighted with criticism as this one.

Pickets patrol his front gate. They are against Vietnam, or schools, or civil rights, or social security. Or, to the contrary, they want more of each of these and they want it now. They sing. They chant. They fight. They faint. It's a hell of a front door for any resident.

In Congress, the Gerald Ford can call a press conference at any time to indict or denounce any action, or lack of action, on the part of the President. Too much, too little, too fast, too slow causes bolts of lightning to hit the copper rooftop. Harry Truman used to say: "Don't shoot the piano player. He's really trying."

However, he was stung so many times that, when a music critic wrote that Truman's daughter Margaret was not a good singer, the man who lived at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue blew up and told the critic that, if Truman ever met him on the street, he'd kick the critic in the groin.

Every President has spots of hyper-sensitivity. President Eisenhower told me that his was economics. He had a teacher named Feldman come in three mornings a week to teach the President the value of a buck. Eisenhower, an international hero, was a general and a general knows nothing about economics. Whatever he wants, he requisitions; he never asks the price of an airplane or a tank.

Whenever Eisenhower was criticized by Congress for spending, his round bald face pinked, and his tone became icy and aloof. Herbert Hoover, to the contrary, told me on his 85th birthday that, although he was conscious of criticism and wore the scars for many years, he felt that the dignity of his high office kept him from answering it.

Result? The copper roof fell in on him. He was trounced for a second term by the Governor of New York, Franklin D. Roosevelt. Hoover was referred to as the father of the Great Depression of the 30s, and the Republican Party disowned him. Silence became a plea of guilty.

The noble idealist, John F. Kennedy, felt the whiplash of criticism so sensitively that, in private, he cursed and swore at his enemies as though disagreement and treason were synonymous. He read four newspapers in fifteen minutes, before his valet, George Thomas, drew the morning Presidential bath and sometimes he stepped into the tub glaring at the tile walls and muttering to himself.

Presidents regard almost all criticism as "unreasonable" because each is doing his best at all times. Each is a bigger, better man than he was before he moved under the copper roof. Each knows that this is the last stop in a successful career, and every one of them starts off with the notion that he, and he alone, can cure the ills of the world and the nation.

Lyndon Johnson is no exception. His attitude of patience is false because he's a perfectionist. He wants to do everything right and he wants to do it at the instant. Not ten minutes later. Now. Years ago, Mrs. Johnson said: "Lyndon acts as though there will never be a tomorrow."

Criticism from many quarters bounces off the Executive Mansion every day. This causes Mr. Johnson to bristle, and he drives himself harder and harder. He knows that he cannot say: "Look, the Vietnam commitment was made in the Eisenhower Administration but, right or wrong, the United States cannot retreat now. We must stay. We must graduate. Any other concept is degrading in the eyes of the world."

With time, the criticism will increase and it will come from a variety of quarters. In a free democratic nation, it is permissible and encouraged. The President is always the hero and, at the same time, the clay pigeon of the people. So far as I know, there isn't one who understood this when he first assumed office.

It killed Woodrow Wilson and it whittled Franklin D. Roosevelt so swiftly that he was transmuted into a Doctor Faustus in reverse: he went from youthful exuberance to doddering old age overnight.

I look at the White House and I wonder why anyone aspires to live there. The roof leaks venom. Copyright, 1966, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Washington Roundup

WASHINGTON (AP) — GOP Gala: "Republic Ann," a 250-pound elephant, helped the Republican congressional committee celebrate the 100th anniversary of its founding Tuesday night.

More than 1,200 tickets were sold to the gala, staged at the Washington Hilton Hotel. The cost per ticket: $250. GOP officials estimated the affair pumped about $250,000 to the 1966 congressional campaign kitty.

The three main speakers were former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan and Rep. Bob Wilson of California. As an added incentive, the fund raisers sponsored a contest to give a formal name to the traditional elephant symbol of the grand old party. The winning name was "Republic Ann" and a live elephant was on hand for the awarding of the top prize — a round trip for two to the gala.

Milk program: The Senate Agriculture committee meets today and may consider legislation that would authorize $15 million for fiscal 1967 to provide a special milk program for children.

A Senate Agriculture subcommittee sent the bill to the full committee Tuesday without recommendation. The administration has requested that the program be cut back. The proposed legislation would authorize $120 million annually after next year.

The subcommittee also sent to the full committee without recommendation a house-passed measure that would authorize a self-help program for cotton producers for research and promotion. Under the legislation, producers would contribute $1 a bale.

Two concurrent resolutions also were sent to the committee without recommendation calling for, in effect, full parity over the next 12 months.

Capital Quote

President Johnson, speaking to group of scholars in White House ceremony: "But I urge you never to dissent merely because someone asks you to, or because someone else does. Know why you protest, know what it is you dissent from, and always try, when you do disagree, to offer a choice to the course you disapprove. For dissent and protest must be the recourse of men who, in challenging the existing order, reason their way to a better order."

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Treat Dad to Long Island Duck

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Father's Day is coming soon. Maybe he likes duck. Millions of men do.

Long Island duck, frozen, is available generally. With a desire to give the fellow a treat on his special day, with a duck in the refrigerator and this recipe in hand, you are set on the path of masculine indulgence. For only one day in the year? That's up to you. But frozen Long Island ducks are available all year round.

LONG ISLAND DUCK WITH PRUNE STUFFING GARNISHED WITH MUSHROOMS

- 1 five-pound duck
- 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon ginger
- 2 tablespoons frozen chives and 2 teaspoons shallots (minced scallions may be substituted)
- 2 cups seasoned, packaged bread stuffing
- 1½ cups orange juice
- 12 plumped, pitted prunes

Rinse a five-pound duck and pat dry. Cut away all fat around openings. Add ¼-teaspoon ginger to teaspoon salt and rub well into inside of duck. Fasten neck skin to back of duck with small skewers. Fill duck from lower opening with prune stuffing and skewer legs together.

Place on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in preheated oven (425 degrees) 25 minutes. Then lift duck out and pour off excess fat. Wipe roasting pan with paper towels. Return duck to rack and return to hot oven just long enough to set skin sizzling hot (approximately 5 minutes); then dash 1 cup orange juice all over skin. Turn heat down to moderate.

St. Lawrence Traffic Up

ST. LAWRENCE, Que. (AP) — Traffic through the Montreal-Lake Ontario section of the St. Lawrence Seaway during April and May increased 29.5 per cent over the same month last year, says Transport Minister J. W. Pickersgill.

He said April-May tonnage was 11.2 million compared to 8.6 million in 1965.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A car sailed off a seawall and landed upside down 15 feet below — and all 11 persons in the vehicle escaped serious injury.

Rockefeller Signs Bill on Heating

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — While the temperature in parts of the State Capitol reached the 80s Tuesday night, Gov. Rockefeller said he signed a bill raising the minimum heat requirement for apartments and other multiple dwellings in the state.

The new law requires that landlords provide heat of not less than 55 degrees—instead of 50—when the outside temperature falls below 40 degrees between 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. It also requires that a minimum of 68 degrees of heat be provided between 6 a.m. and 10 p.m. when the outside reading is 55 or lower, instead of the previous minimum of 50.

One legislator from New York City, where the new laws would have its major effect, pointed out that the air conditioning was out of order in some sections of the Capitol, but was working in the governor's office.

Rockefeller Signs Measure For Low Income Housing

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A new $10-million revolving state fund is expected to generate $150 million a year to build private, low-income housing, under a measure signed by Gov. Rockefeller.

The Republican governor said Tuesday he had signed the bill, sponsored by Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia, the Legislature's top Democrat.

The Travia measure, the major bill among 62 approved by Rockefeller, authorizes non-profit housing companies to buy land, make surveys and otherwise prepare to apply to the federal government for low-interest housing loans.

In addition to the $10 million revolving fund, the law sets aside $2 million to set up training programs to assist prospective builders in applying for government funds.

Money used by the non-profit organizations would be repaid to the main fund upon receipt of federal loans.

11,000 Units Annually

Travia said the law could provide for the construction or rehabilitation of up to 11,000 housing units annually.

The governor vetoed 16 measures, but other bills that gained his approval Tuesday would: —Establish a new state department of planning to coordinate regional and state development plans with federal proposals.

—Make New York State a

Condon-Wadlin Law Rift Widens, Pass Rival Bills

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects dimmed today for legislative approval of workable legislation designed to prohibit public-employee strikes.

Republicans running the Senate and Democrats controlling the Assembly widened the rift between them Tuesday by passing rival plans for replacing the seldom-invoked Condon-Wadlin Law.

Both sides conceded that the action by the two houses had weakened chances for agreement on legislation intended to deal with such crises as the transit strike that crippled New York City last January.

Besides activity on the no-strike bills, the Legislature's lengthy working day produced these other developments:

—Republicans and Democrats sided in the Senate to indicate disapproval of a measure that would authorize communities to institute voting by punch-cards at elections. Critics complained that such a procedure might result in fraud because punch-card ballots would have to be carried by hand to a computer for tabulation. The measure was put aside after a show of hands indicated it would be defeated. However, it could be brought up again later. Opposition to the bill was led by Sen. James F. Hastings, R-Allegany County.

Historic Sites

—The Senate approved a bill that would transfer from the Education Department to the Conservation Department administration of the state's historic sites. Advocates said the Education Department had failed in several instances to maintain historic locations properly.

—The Senate also voted final legislative approval of a measure that would make it a misdemeanor for manufacturers to sell phonograph records or stereophonic tapes without putting their names and addresses on the outside covers of their products. The measure was introduced at the request of the state attorney general, who is seeking to crack down on "piracy" in the recording industry.

—The Senate voted unanimously to crack down on public drinking by youngsters under age 18. The action gave final legislative approval to a bill that would make possession of an open liquor-bottle or beer can by a person under 18 presumptive evidence that the person was drinking.

The rival Republican and Democratic moves to push their no-strike measures through the respective houses capped the frustration the impasse has created in the Legislature.

Both sides insist the existing Condon-Wadlin Law should be eliminated because its harsh penalties have made public agencies loathe to invoke it.

The penalties for violators include automatic dismissal and forfeiture of pay raises for three years.

Governor's Plan

The governor's plan, drawn by a panel of labor-relations professors, was passed in the Senate by a vote of 33-31. Three Republican senators — John H. Hughes and Tarky Lombardi Jr., both of Syracuse, and Martin J. Knorr of Brooklyn — opposed the plan.

The Democratic proposal won Assembly endorsement a few hours later by a vote of 88-65.

The governor's bill would require unions to give a no-strike pledge as a condition for recognition by an employer. At the same time, it would provide for against union leaders who defied a court order not to strike.

Both plans would establish procedures for collective bargaining and mediation of disputes.

Under terms of the governor's measure, an employer would be required to withdraw recognition of a striking union and to seek stiff fines against the union's leadership. There would be no specific limit on fines that could be levied.

Democratic Plan

In contrast, the Democratic plan would provide only for optional penalties against striking employees. Punishment could range from simple reprimand to suspension or dismissal.

Republicans took the position in the Senate that the public was entitled to protection under some workable substitute for the Condon-Wadlin Law.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges said the Legislature would be "woefully derelict in its duty" if it adjourned without dealing with the issue.

Democrats contended their plan met the situation head-on. They called the Republican blueprint a "union-busting" device.

Gives Final Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House of Representatives has given final approval to a concurrent resolution to place a statue of Italian-born architect Constantino Brumidi in the Capitol's Senate wing. The Senate approved the resolution March 25.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

One of my readers sent me a magazine called The Lamp dated summer of 1966. It is published by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and New York. There is an illustrated article by Carl Carmer, well known author of Hudson River items. This one is called The Great River of the Mountains. I will quote from it real soon, but first I want to quote a little from an editorial by Michael L. Haider, chairman of the Board, which has as its title Individual Initiative.

Haider starts his editorial with: "In view of the increasingly widespread encroachment of government on the freedom of individuals, it seems timely to recall the basic philosophy and concepts that were such important factors in making this country the great and powerful nation it is . . ." The obvious progress of this country has been recognized by other countries for some time. Haider gives credit to the individual freedom and initiative . . . as he continues . . . "Our progress has been the result of the collective effort of many people, each free to exercise his own initiative under an incentive system. . ."

He further goes on to say: "No doubt the fact that many of the early settlers as well as later immigrants coming from all parts of the world, to escape their government interferences with their individual freedoms was a big factor in building this country's remarkable success. The basic problem of surviving and developing such a new nation as ours in a new world required a high degree of self-reliance and resourcefulness in each individual, as a result one enterprise after another was founded and kept alive through generations. A philosophy of each individual has made him a captain of his own destiny, before the government stepped in lately to guide each movement and give central planning."

Haider further continues: "Opportunities for the individual still exist, but there has been an alarming trend toward more and more exercise of control by the government and restriction of the initiative of the individual. The importance of freedom of enterprise in bringing about economic growth and development is, I am afraid, often overlooked because it has been our way of life for so long that we take it for granted. The encroachment of government on our freedoms has been gradual, and many are

Invitation — A Matter of Choice

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 13-year-old boy who crawls in bed with his mother after his father leaves for work? I can't stand to visit my sister any more when I see what's going on there. I believe it is WRONG and I have said so. She lets this boy wear nail polish and play with her make-up and jewelry. He can't stand to get his hands dirty. It's "too hot" in the summer and "too cold" in the winter, so he stays indoors and plays with his dolls.

He has a 15-year-old sister who is so ashamed of the younger one he is becoming more and more withdrawn from people. Needless to say, the younger boy has no friends. The father is helpless. He once threw all the make-up and dolls out, but the boy cried so hard his mother went out and bought more. This boy gets furious if he sees his father kiss his mother. What is wrong here? I can't believe I am worried for nothing. Or isn't it any of my business?

DISGUSTED AUNT

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your sister and her son are both ready candidates for the psychiatrist's couch. And if the father looks out the window, knowing what is going on, so is he. Appeal to her husband to get help for the whole sick family before it's too late. Yes, it IS your business. Would you walk away if you witnessed a man beating a helpless dog?

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather delicate problem. My husband comes from a large family, and I get along very well with all of them, but naturally I like some of his sisters and brothers better than others. My question: When I entertain, isn't it O.K. for me to invite, say a few of my husband's sisters and brothers, and leave out some?

I was told by a relative that I shouldn't have any of them if I don't invite them all. Abby, that would make 16 right there! I don't expect to be invited every place MY sisters and brothers are: I'd like to add that I invite the whole tribe occasionally, so it's not like I'm snubbing anyone.

NO CITY, PLS.

DEAR NO: I don't know who is calling the signals in your family, but he's out of bounds. If you "invite the whole tribe occasionally," no one should feel offended. Invite whom you wish.

DEAR ABBY: This is not a letter asking for advice because a decision had to be made in a hurry and we made one, but we want to know if YOU think we did the right thing. My brother's son was Bar Mitzvah last Saturday. (This is a religious ceremony held in a synagogue followed by a big party to celebrate a Jewish boy's 13th birthday.) It so happened that my wife's cousin died and her funeral was held on THAT Saturday morning.

We didn't know where to go, so we decided to attend the cousin's funeral first and then attend the Bar Mitzvah luncheon afterwards. We were severely criticized by the Bar Mitzvah crowd for attending a party right after a funeral. And the funeral crowd criticized us for going from a funeral to a party. Were we wrong? CRITICIZED

DEAR CRITICIZED: You tried to do the right thing by two relatives, so your conscience should be clear even if your critics are cutting.

I am just quoting in part from this interesting editorial as Haider wrote: "We should not let our enthusiasm for protection of the general welfare lead us to restraints that curb individuals in their pursuit of economic progress and development." He speaks of the decisions of a few people sitting above the marketplace controlling economic growth and private enterprises. In his looking around the world, he found that countries that allow the most freedom in private enterprises instead of having the governments throttle initiative are better off.

Father of 7 Held In Wife's Murder

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Albert Dumas, a 41-year-old unemployed father of seven, was in St. Lawrence County Jail in Canton today, charged with first-degree murder in the shooting of his wife.

Dumas surrendered to a posse of village and state policemen that surrounded a small woods about an hour after his wife, Helen, 38, was found shot at their home. Police said Dumas offered no resistance when found lying in tall grass with a .30-30 rifle beside him. Dumas, who had spent nearly a year in a mental institution, was arraigned before Police Judge Edward LaVarnway, who scheduled an examination and ordered Dumas held. Police said Mrs. Dumas had been shot in the chest and arm.

Sen. Eastland Easy Winner Despite Negro Registration

By JAMES SAGGUS

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland and four Democratic congressmen held primary victories today in re-election bids that shattered Negro hopes for gaining a balance of power vote.

Although Negro registration had risen to almost 20 per cent of the estimated 675,000 total, a Negro-backed ticket got only about 12 per cent of the votes in Tuesday's primary balloting.

Eastland scored a 4-1 victory over two opponents in the only statewide race, while veteran Reps. Thomas Abernethy, Jamie Whitten, John Bell Williams and William Colmer also won handily.

One question unsettled from the Democratic primaries was whether State Sen. G. V. Montgomery of Meridian had won a first primary victory in the 4th District. Attorney J. O. Hollis of Carthage was second in the four-way race.

Biggest influence of the Negro vote was in the 4th District race, where the Rev. Clinton Collier of Philadelphia, a Negro on the Freedom Democratic party ticket got enough votes to threaten to throw the decision into a runoff as counting resumed today. A runoff would match the two top candidates.

GOP Trails

Republicans, staging their first primary contest, trailed badly in the 4th District voting totals.

Federal examiners and Negro observers kept watch over many of the polls, but no major incidents were reported across the state.

Though badly outvoted, Negroes showed significant gains since the 1964 congressional elections, when their statewide candidate got only 4,700 of the 225,000 votes.

Despite the greatly increased registration and the shooting of Negro James H. Meredith on a march to encourage Negroes to participate in politics, the turnout of registered Negro voters was little better than the white turnout on a percentage basis.

Hurt in Crash

Edward McCullough, of 20 Corwin Place, Lake Katrine, was injured shortly before 7:30 a. m. today as the result of a two-car collision on Albany Avenue Extension near the intersection of old Route 9W.

Town of Ulster. McCullough was taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatum's Ambulance and treated for head injuries. Deputy Sheriff Jerry Vorsek and James Walsh reported the other vehicle was driven by Peter D. Gaides, 21, of RD 2, Box 606, New Paltz, who was driving north at the time of the mishap.

Allen at Conference On Manpower Training

Peter O. Allen, executive vice president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, recently attended the Governor's Conference on Manpower Training in Buffalo.

Allen received valuable information from the two-day meeting in Buffalo, which concerned itself with tapping the nation's large supply of untrained and often disadvantaged people.

Called by Governor Rockefeller, the conference highlighted problems of education, social reform and vocational rehabilitation. Noted speakers from six states and two foreign countries discussed current and proposed programs for private industry, as well as government, to implement to relieve a growing problem.

Allen was sent to the conference as a step in fulfilling part of the Chamber's Program Work. He noted that it is a goal of the Education Committee to "Develop a program to seek out trainable but presently low-skilled personnel, thus adding to the manpower pool of the community." As a follow up the committee is then charged with "Encouraging industrial, educational and governmental units to establish vocational technical courses to upgrade unskilled citizens and retrain those with obsolete skills."

Others in attendance at the meeting included personnel from IBM and Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation. Over 500 personnel participated in the program.

Man Is Killed By Express Train

OSSINING, N.Y. (AP) — Richard C. Lee, 55, was killed by an express train at the New York Central Railroad station here today.

He was standing on the platform reading a newspaper and appeared to be "sucked under" the train, which sped through the station at 60 miles per hour, police stated.

Humphrey Talks At West Point

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said today peace and development for Asia must have high American priority for the rest of this century.

Humphrey said in a speech at U.S. Military Academy graduation exercises that the problems of Asia will not disappear with any settlement that is reached in Viet Nam.

"The peace and development of Asia will be high on our national agenda for the rest of this century," he said. "So will our relations with the nations of Asia — including our relations with mainland China."

In approaching this problem, he said the Johnson administration "will continue to seek to build bridges, to keep open the doors of communication to the Communist states of Asia, and in particular Communist China — just as we have to the Soviet Union and the Communist states of Eastern Europe."

Set Synagogue

Correction Paul D. McGinnis, of Delmar, was scheduled to precede a prayer of tribute by Rabbi Leon Wengrovsky, president of the American Jewish Correctional Chaplains' Association.

The Cantorial selection by Cantor Julian C. Lohre, of Temple Emanuel, city, was followed by an address by Rabbi Erwin Zimet, president of the American Correctional Chaplains' Association. A poem of tribute on behalf of the institution inmates was recited by an inmate, after which Rabbi Harold H. Gordon, executive director of the New York Board of Rabbis, delivered an address.

Prayer of dedication was offered by Rabbi Jerald Bobrow, Jewish chaplain at Wallkill Prison. Concluding the program was benediction by the Rev. John F. Meade, Catholic chaplain at the prison.

Was Chaplain for 27 Years

During the 27 years Rabbi Bloom was Jewish chaplain at the prison, he brought much hope and comfort, not only to members of the Jewish Faith, but to all of the other inmates as well.

In a recent tribute, Assemblyman Wilson said that Rabbi Bloom had devoted much of his busy schedule to bringing spiritual assistance and guidance to the men at Wallkill Prison, as well as to those at the Eastern Correctional Institution at Nanuet and the State Vocational School at West Coxsackie.

"Rabbi Bloom's devotion to the duties of Jewish chaplain of the three area penal institutions was only one of the many civic duties performed by the late religious leader," Wilson said, "but it was a duty which will long be remembered by the many men to whom Rabbi Bloom brought both religious inspiration and a renewed hope for the future."

The Chaplaincy Commission of the State Board of Rabbis, whose services are made possible by the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, expected to attend today ceremonies with Warden Wallace and the staff of the prison, and many leading citizens from throughout the area.

Rochester Board Discusses Junk, Planning Matters

Junkyard and planning matters were discussed at the regular meeting of the Town of Rochester Board last week.

Arthur D. Lapp, a town constable, was present at the meeting and reviewed the fine police training program being conducted in Kingston by the District Attorney's Office and the Sheriff's Department. Lapp suggested that the Town of Rochester form an organized constabulary.

The Town Board felt that a matter of this nature would first require a great deal of study. No further action was taken.

Romeo Muller, of High Falls, discussed the problem of junk cars; and expressed his views on the matter pointing out that they are very unsightly. He then asked what action the town board is going to take concerning this. The town board agreed that they will obtain further information regarding this matter from the town attorney. A name of a company was presented by John Scribano, chairman of the planning board, the company will, if contacted, take junk cars away. The name of the company is on file in the town clerk's office.

Due to the illness of the Town Attorney, Saul H. Altholz, and the need for the services of a town attorney at the present time, the town board temporarily appointed Albert I. Lonsiein, of Ellenville, to serve in this capacity.

A letter was received from the planning board which informed the town board that there have been no plans or other information taken up with the planning board concerning several properties that are now being developed within the Town of Rochester. The planning board letter said that they are bringing this to the attention of the town board.

A discussion was held in regard to the town board appointing an advisory board that would become familiar with the workings of the planning board so that they could convey this information to the people. Board members agreed to hold this matter in abeyance until it is discussed with the planning board.

Predict Congress Will Pass CR Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson and Democratic congressional leaders talked today about the shooting of James Meredith in Mississippi and out of the discussions came predictions that Congress is sure to pass a civil rights bill with protective provisions for Negroes and civil rights workers.

House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma told newsmen after the White House meeting that: "We, of course, were all concerned about the wanton act of attempted murder on a public highway yesterday." He said he was reflecting Johnson's concern in saying that a civil act is "sure to be passed in the House expeditiously."

Albert said he expected it to be a comprehensive bill, rather than divided legislation that would split off provisions to protect Negroes and civil rights

Tainted Sugar Makes Five Sick

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A 14-month old girl died and four other children were made ill by sugar poisoned with sodium nitrate, a chemical used in fertilizer and meat preservatives, a Monroe County medical examiner has ruled.
 Dr. Robert M. Greendyke said the tainted sugar was found in a milk formula prepared for Isa Diaz, the daughter of Mrs. Olga Raspolo of Rochester. The baby died Tuesday morning in Genesee Hospital.
 Also sick from the sugar were the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Confesor Martinez, who live at the same address as Mrs. Raspolo.
 Three of the Martinez children were treated in the hospital and released. The fourth child, Mildred, 1, was reported in good condition in the hospital.
 The sodium nitrate was found in containers of both sugar and salt in Mrs. Raspolo's apartment. Police said Martinez had taken the sugar and salt containing the chemical from a meat packing plant where he is employed.
 No charges were filed. Greendyke said he would issue a certificate of accidental death.
 The effect of the chemical in the sugar was to enter the blood stream of the child and change the structure of the blood so that it cannot carry oxygen properly, a county health department physician said.

Duluth and Superior No Longer Depressed

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Prosperity has hit Duluth and neighboring Superior, Wis., in the pocketbook.
 Decreasing unemployment and general economic well-being caused the two cities this week to lose their designation as a distressed area. The loss of designation meant loss of eligibility for certain federal funds.
 Mayor George E. Johnson of Duluth said the area will no longer be able to qualify for many of the programs under the Economic Development Act.
 The Duluth-Superior unemployment rate dipped to 5 per cent in April, 2.1 per cent under the same month last year. A distressed area must have at least 6 per cent unemployment.

Milk Shortage Seen in Future

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The director of the economics division of the National Milk Producers Federation said Tuesday the nation faces the possibility of a long run milk shortage because of a decreasing number of dairy cattle and increasing demand.

Judson P. Mason of Washington suggested that an across-the-board increase of 45 cents per hundredweight in class one fluid milk prices would stimulate milk production and avert a possible shortage.

Mason and 17 other witnesses testified at the opening of a two-day U.S. Agriculture Department emergency hearing for 34 market areas in the Midwest and South. The hearing, one of four being held in the nation this week, was scheduled at the request of dairy farmer co-operatives that fear a milk shortage. Other witnesses supported an across-the-board price increase of as much as 50 cents. But two, Robert Winton of Chicago, a food representative, and James S. Rudy of Dallas, Tex., a dairy manufacturer representative, said such an increase could not be justified in all market areas.

Hurricane Alma

into the Florida Straits, the Weather Bureau warned, there will be a possibility of tornadoes over south Florida.

74 Reported Dead

But, although Alma has left a trail of 74 dead in her soggy wake—73 in Honduras and at least one in Cuba—forecasters told residents of the Florida Keys there was no need for widespread evacuation or cause for panic.

Now moving forward at 15 miles an hour, Alma's center was due near Key West at the lower tip of the Florida Keys early this afternoon. Its earlier speed was 11 m.p.h. A hurricane watch was placed in effect on both Florida coasts, northward to Daytona Beach on the Atlantic side and to Cedar Key on the Gulf of Mexico, well above Tampa. A hurricane warning was in effect in the lower Florida Keys and on the lower west coast.

While Alma was still 250 miles south-southwest of Miami, her advance winds reached all the way to Tavernier on Key Largo, buffeting that community with 50-mile-an-hour gusts. Bristle squalls whipped through Miami.

Tens of thousands of Cubans were evacuated from the path of the hurricane before it hit that island's western portion, Havana Radio said.

The first Cuban storm victim was a boatman. Havana radio reported Tuesday night a wind gust slammed him against a cabin and he went down with his craft while two crewmates swam ashore.

The incident occurred off La Coloma, a fishing port on the south coast of Pinar del Rio, Cuba's westernmost province. Sunday night, Alma killed 73 persons in Honduras.

Buildings Wrecked

Rain-laden advance gales wrecked dairy buildings and tore up power lines on the Isle of Pines, 76 miles south of Pinar del Rio, the Cuban broadcast said. It said several thousand persons were evacuated from the island and from La Coloma.

Gale warnings flew as far north as the Florida Keys, and squalls chased small craft into port as far north as Cape Kennedy, midway up the Florida East Coast.

Some business and home owners in the Florida Keys and Miami area started boarding up windows early in anticipation of the possibility the storm would hit southern Florida.

The hurricane is a rarity because it developed as early as June.

Announce Sept. 1

July 15 has been set as the date on which to call for bids, which are expected to be opened on Aug. 15. It is expected that a contract could be awarded on or about Sept. 1.

Much of the procedure ahead, it was noted, will depend upon action of federal officials. Yosman said local officials are due to meet June 14 with members of the Public Housing Administration and discuss design and details of the project. George E. Yerry Jr., HA chairman, is due to attend the session.

If all goes well, the local officials said, the authority should be able to call for bids on July 15.

L.I. Narcotics Raid

HAUPPAUGE, N.Y. (AP) — About 150 Suffolk County police teamed up in a predawn raid Wednesday and picked up 24 narcotics suspects.

The raids were conducted in Babylon, Huntington and Islip, all heavily populated areas.

A police spokesman said "a large amount" of narcotics were seized in the coordinated raids, but could give no immediate figure.

Board Awards Oil Contract; Discusses Greenspan Monies

The Saugerties Village Board awarded a fuel oil contract for the year and heard pertinent details on the new "Greenspan" project at its meeting Monday night.

The Board opened bids for fuel oil; found Kingston Oil Supply was low bidder; and awarded the firm a contract at the quoted price of .1089 per gallon.

Trustees also heard Donald Weaver, county office manager of the State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, detail facts in connection with the new "Greenspan" program recently passed by Congress. The program offers federal aid in purchasing cropland for recreational or open space purposes. Once the cropland adjustment program had been explained, the Board found that Saugerties has no land which would qualify. In order to be considered, land must be idle cropland, harvested for the past three years, etc. No such corn or grain fields.

Berzal Wants Billboard
Trustees received a request from Vincent Berzal, of Berzal Sales and Service, Inc., for permission to install a billboard in front of his place of business. Berzal had obtained a petition, signed by all adjoining property owners except one, saying they had no objection to the sign. A local ordinance requires such a petition, signed by all those persons owning property within 200 feet.

Permission for the billboard was granted with the stipulation that Berzal obtain the written permission of the one person who had not been available to sign the petition—but who apparently has no objection—that another signature be changed from the way it appears as a corporation to the name of the corporate officer signing.

The board also gave permission to the C. A. Lynch Hose Company to take its fire truck to Catskill to participate in an inspection parade on August 27.

Inspections and Recreation
Fire Commissioner Donald R. McCaig reported that fire warden inspections are progressing and should be completed within two weeks. Parks Commissioner Richard J. Underhill said benches, fireplaces and all children's playground equipment is in order for the various parks and playgrounds and the local beach. He also said he would meet tonight with Joseph Benjamin, recreational director of the village, and all personnel who will be working at parks, playgrounds and beach this summer to go over their duties for the season.

The Board accepted with regret the resignation of probationary patrolman Anthony J. Scarselli, effective June 21. In a letter of resignation, Scarselli advised the board he has been accepted by the New York State Police and will start training on June 23.

The Board also heard a request from Philip Shook, secretary of the Mid-Hudson Antique Auto Club of Saugerties to hold a small parade through the village on July 3 at 1 p. m. Some 100 to 150 cars would be included. The Board asked for a line of march before granting permission, which will be given upon receipt.

Tax Review Case
Village attorney Daniel Lamb reported that he had filed a defense in connection with a tax review case asked by the Newburgh Savings Bank. The bank seeks a reduction in taxes on several lots it owns in the village. Lamb said the Supreme Court will eventually assign a judge or referee to handle the matter and that he expects no action for several weeks.

Before adjournment, Superintendent of Public Works William Voerg asked that village residents be instructed not to rake mowed grass into the road or gutters. He said, following Monday's heavy rain and hailstone storm, all catch basins in the upper part of the village were clogged because of this habit on the part of some citizens.

Filled VFW Hall For GOP Debate

Town of Saugerties Republican Club held its May meeting at the local VFW Hall; heard a club sponsored debate between Alexander Aldrich and Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican opponents for the 28th Congressional District seat.

The hall was filled to capacity with nearly 200 interested persons present to hear the debate. Residents of Woodstock, Kingston, interested Saugertiesians, Republican Club members, and a group of students from Marist College, Dutchess County, attended.

A short business meeting was held with George Turner, president, presiding.

Turner introduced several local officials in attendance: Supervisor Peter Williams; Superintendent of Highways, William Brown; Justice of the Peace, William D. Brainerd; Councilmen, Frank Hallion, Robert Smith, Elden Myers and Philip Breithaupt; Collector of Taxes, William Woestendiek and Town Assessor, Michael Caruso. Also, the Constitutional Convention candidates: Louis Francello, Clark Bell and J. Watson Pomeroy. Also in attendance was James Matthews, who is running in the June primary for convention delegate against the Republican Party's endorsed candidates.

Bernard Rinaldi, ticket chairman for the Republican spring dinner dance sponsored by the Republican Club of Saugerties, reported the affair was both a financial and social success.

The club voted to have a car in the Jaycees Fourth of July parade. Program chairman Michael Catannotto announced the rules for the debate between Aldrich and Fish. Each Congressional aspirant had 10 minutes to present his candidacy to the group present. Then each candidate had a few minutes to respond. After this primary part of the debate the program was open to questions from the floor.

In opening remarks Fish said he felt he was the man to win, because he was from Dutchess County and he feels that Dutchess County is the key county in the 28th District.

Aldrich said his experience as an attorney, public servant and teacher and his participation on the local, state, federal and international levels of government made him more qualified to wage an intelligent, active and winning campaign for the Republican party.

A long and interesting question and answer period followed with both candidates answering spontaneously.

Following the close of the meeting and debate, all those present enjoyed refreshments donated by Aldrich, who requested that any food left be taken to Dale's Sanatorium.

Club members felt the debate was most successful; gave local residents a chance to meet and hear the two Republican candidates aspiring to the Congressional seat in the 28th District now held by Joseph Y. Resnick, Democrat.

The next meeting of the club will be held Thursday, June 16 at the West Saugerties Fire Hall.

Jehle and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Yakin.

All Rebekahs have been invited to attend Olive Bridge Lodge tonight at 8 o'clock to help celebrate its birthday party. Members are also invited to Queen Ulster Lodge 34, to celebrate the 60th anniversary on June 21.

Announcement has been made that all Ulster County Lodges will now be consolidated, and a special District meeting will be held by the Past Noble Grand on June 21 at Olive Bridge Rebekah Lodge at 8 p. m. for the purpose of electing a District Deputy President.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs were held June 5 at 11 a. m. at the Congregation Church in Saugerties with the Rev. Frederick Imhoff officiating.

A report of the Rebekah Assembly Convention was given by June Lewis at last week's meeting of the lodge.

U.S. Favors U Thant

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States went on record Tuesday night in favor of the re-election of U Thant of Burma as secretary-general of the United Nations.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey gave the endorsement in remarks prepared for a reception at the U.S. Mission to the U.N. Humphrey in speaking forgot to give his statement about Thant, and U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg later said on the vice president's behalf:

"He (Thant) is a great international servant, and it is no secret that the United States government is among those who hope he will be available for re-election as secretary-general this fall."

Thant has promised to say late this month whether he will take a second five-year term. His first term expires Nov. 3.

Hope to Start Riots

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Dominican leftists are reported trying to rally support for widespread riots to protest the election of presidential candidate Joaquin Balaguer.

Informed sources said the Castroite 14th of June Movement hopes to set off the disturbances next Tuesday, seventh anniversary of the abortive 1959 invasion that gave the faction its name.

The question of contesting the results of the election has caused a rift in the Dominican Revolutionary Party (PRD) of defeated candidate Juan Bosch.

Balaguer won last week's contest with a margin of nearly a quarter million votes, but the official results have not been released and Bosch has not conceded publicly.

Capt. Stewart Dies

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Capt. Norman Baillie-Stewart, the first Lord Haw Haw of World War II, is dead.

Baillie-Stewart, 57, collapsed in a Dublin street Tuesday and died without regaining consciousness. He had been living in suburban Raheny since he was released from a British prison in 1949.

He was convicted in 1933 of supplying Germany with British military secrets. He was released in 1937 and went to Germany.

At the outbreak of the war, he began the Nazi propaganda broadcasts which William Joyce later took over. After the war Baillie-Stewart served nearly four years of a five-year British sentence for treason. Joyce was hanged.

Sen. Mundt Wins GOP Nomination

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (AP) — Sen. Karl E. Mundt has easily won the Republican nomination for a fourth term in the U. S. Senate.

The veteran lawmaker, 66, scored a lopsided victory over Richard Murphy, 36, a Sioux Falls attorney.

Mundt will meet Democratic State Rep. Down Wright, 45, White Lake, in the fall general election. Wright had no primary election opposition.

Mundt served five terms in the U. S. House of Representatives before moving to the Senate in 1948. He was re-elected in 1954 and 1960, and had no primary election opponent either time.

Mundt captured the vote in all 63 counties, and had a 5-1 lead much of the time as the vote was counted.

Gubernatorial Candidate

Nickerson to Join Civil Rights March

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Eugene Nickerson, a candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, capped his campaign stop in Buffalo Tuesday night by announcing plans to join James Meredith's civil rights march through Tennessee and Mississippi on Thursday.

The Nassau County executive said he had talked by telephone to Meredith in a Memphis Hospital where Meredith is recovering from gunshot wounds.

"He said he was feeling pretty good and was very glad to be alive," Nickerson said. "He also said Dr. Martin Luther King had been with him for some time."

Nickerson, a Columbia Law School graduate, met Meredith while the latter was studying at the university.

Also visiting Buffalo Tuesday was Frank D. O'Connor, president of the New York City Council and an announced candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Both O'Connor and Nickerson expressed support for the controversial state medical assistance program. The Democrat hopefuls agreed that there should be no immediate, substantive amendments to the medical law until the state has had some experience with the program.

Nickerson called the plan "basically sound," but accused Republican Gov. Rockefeller of "fouling it up through lack of planning" and of failing to provide accurate cost estimates.

Nickerson estimated that he had 350 of the 573 delegate votes needed for nomination at the Democratic state convention on Sept. 7 and 8 in Buffalo.

O'Connor, speaking at a luncheon meeting of the Greater Buffalo Advertising Club, said that "jobs, good jobs" could cut welfare costs.

He said he was delaying his official announcement about becoming a gubernatorial candidate until the Legislature resolved New York City's fiscal problems. O'Connor said he hoped to make the announcement before June 20.

In toasting the guest of honor, program chairman Mrs. Devine presented her with a corsage and charm bracelet. She also received a "Purple Heart" Trophy, presented by president Mrs. Gemmell. Drum Corps director Ralph Shapiro, in a letter read at the dinner, cited Mrs. Sampson for her "consistent and never ending work and leadership for the boys of Troop and Post 12" and for her "inspiration" to himself and many others in the organization. Among other things, Mrs. Sampson made the first Troop 12 BSA Indians' uniform.

DeGaulle Doesn't Show

Tensions in Europe Eased, NATO Ministers Will Move

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Red China's a problem, the war in Viet Nam is a mess, Africa is unpredictable, this country bubbles and boils over civil rights, but tensions in Europe recently have eased greatly.

The best proof is the Brussels meeting of 14 North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries' foreign ministers. If the heat was on they wouldn't have the time for the kind of debating and postponing they're doing now.

The best weathervane is French President Charles de Gaulle, who wasn't there.

Improved Conditions

Tall De Gaulle, always fidgety about the image of French greatness, decided earlier this year European conditions have improved vastly since the NATO allies first teamed up in 1949 against a possible Soviet attack.

He didn't like the idea of French troops under allied command—integrated forces, they were called—and he couldn't endure the thought of NATO bases, mostly American, on French soil.

Out with the bases, he told NATO, feeling he could say so now in a safer Europe. He announced he would pull French forces out of the integrated set, meaning France and no one else would have any say over French troops.

NATO has its headquarters in France. Out with that, too, he said. At the same time he said he wouldn't pull France out of the NATO alliance. This was really having it both ways.

France, militarily, would no longer be part of the common NATO defense. But if the Soviet Union attacked, France would depend on NATO allies to defend her. De Gaulle is a man who has played it both ways for quite a while.

He was so jealous of French authority over all things French he had withdrawn its Mediterranean and Atlantic fleets from NATO; assigned NATO only small air and ground forces of about 60,000 men; refused to permit non-French naval personnel from certain high command posts. And he did other similar things.

(In fairness it should be remembered France stood beside the United States in the Berlin crises and the Cuban missile crisis.)

In view of De Gaulle's demands the remaining NATO nations had to arrange to take their headquarters out of France and re-cement the organization which his actions had badly shattered. They had to remove the NATO Council, political arm of the organization, from Paris, too, although De Gaulle didn't demand that and, instead, invited the council to remain.

Will Move to Belgium

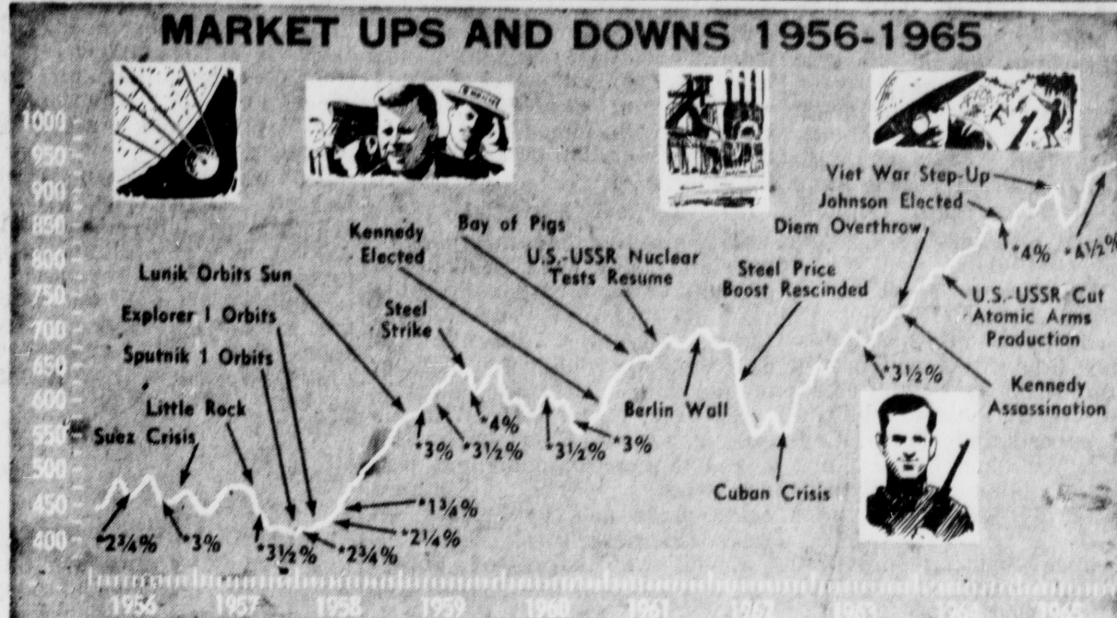

This week the 14 NATO countries' foreign ministers met, including Dean Rusk, U.S. secretary of state, and agreed to move NATO's military headquarters to Belgium.

But, since they weren't under pressure to remove the NATO Council from Paris, they didn't. They discussed it, disagreed on what to do, and decided they'd take it up again in their meeting next October.

Something else bugged them, too, but, since there was no crisis and they were under no pressure, they skipped around that also. This was the idea that there should be a conference between NATO and the Communists' Warsaw Pact countries which are having their own meeting in Moscow now.

The ministers would have danced to a faster and far more nervous tune if, as De Gaulle said, times hadn't changed. Their only trouble is they don't know how long the times will stay changed.

While the stock market has had many ups and downs during the past 10 years, the long-term trend has been steadily upward—doubling stock values within the decade. Many events have had a strong influence on market performance. Newschart relates the rise of industrial averages during the period with some of the major national and international developments and with successive changes in the discount rate (asterisk figures), the Federal Reserve's traditional device for influencing economic activity by tightening or easing the money supply.

Motorcycle, Car Are in Collision

New Paltz village police conducted an investigation. Torloff resides at 23 Trior Avenue, New Paltz, and Comerford's home is New Hyde Park, Long Island.

Shooting Not Expected To Effect CR Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., said today he does not think the ambush shooting of James H. Meredith will have any effect on hearings on the administration's civil rights bill.

"This bill has too many potentialities for injury to be passed in a hurry," the North Carolina Democrat and chairman of the Senate Constitutional Rights subcommittee told newsmen.

States Witnesses

The subcommittee already has a schedule of witnesses for the rest of the month, and Ervin set he could not predict when it might act on the bill.

As Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach returns for a third day of testimony before Ervin's subcommittee today, 19 House Republicans pressed a drive to break up the omnibus bill and seek quick passage as a separate measure a section dealing with civil rights violence.

The administration bill's proposed ban on racial and religious discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing could cause months of delay or doom the omnibus measure completely, said Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., spokesman for the group of House Republicans which introduced the separate bill Tuesday.

Will Oppose Move

But Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee which also is considering the civil rights bill, informed the Republicans he will oppose their move. Celler favors the open housing provision and thinks its chances are better if the bill remains intact.

The open housing provision was all but ignored at Tuesday's Senate subcommittee hearing following Meredith's shooting Monday during a Mississippi civil rights march.

Attention focused instead on a section to make it a federal crime to interfere forcibly with anyone, because of his race, color, or religion, while engaging in the exercise of his constitutional rights.

The bill also would provide federal criminal penalties for violence against civil rights workers and peaceful demonstrators, with punishment up to life imprisonment in case of fatal injuries.

Termed Essential

Katzenbach called this part of the bill, along with sections to prohibit discrimination in the selection of state and federal juries, absolutely essential to deal with cases like the shooting of Meredith.

However, Ervin insisted in his questioning of Katzenbach that a constitutional amendment was necessary before Congress could make acts by private citizens federal crimes.

Ervin, who expressed abhor-rence of violence, said he would offer such an amendment. He urged the administration to show its "fidelity to the Constitution" by supporting it.

"All I am trying to do," Ervin said, "is to save a few remnants of the Constitution for future generations of Americans — and, I might add, Americans of all races."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has branded the bill's open housing section as "absolutely unconstitutional," told reporters he couldn't speculate on whether the attack on Meredith would spur action on the legislation.

But he said that if Congress adjourns by Labor Day, the Senate is unlikely to act on the open housing proposal by that time.

City Court Cases

A driver was sentenced on two charges in city court today, a charge against another was dismissed, and two paid $10 fines.

Wilbur Delaney, 21, of 21 Abel Street, was charged with driving a motorcycle with an inadequate muffler and disorderly conduct early today. Police said the latter charge was lodged because of an argument after he was stopped for the muffler. He was given a suspended sentence of 15 days in jail on the disorderly conduct charge and was fined $15 on the other.

A charge dealing with changing traffic lanes unsafely against Michael Malone, 22, of Flushing, L. I., was dismissed. It was lodged after a recent two-car mishap at Broadway and McEntee Street.

John Sorochinski, 71, of Box 222, Route 2, Saugerties, was fined $10 for driving with unsafe tires, and a stop-sign charge was dismissed. Arlington Finch, 18, of Woodstock, charged with a traffic light violation paid $10.

Texas' constitution gives it the right to form four new states within its borders.

Misses Exercises

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Wesley C. Clark, No. 1 man in this year's graduating class at the U.S. Military Academy, missed Tuesday's awards presentations and other ceremonies because he was in the post hospital.

Maj. Gen. Donald V. Bennett, academy superintendent, visited Clark at the hospital to present five awards. Clark, 21, of Little Rock, Ark., is suffering from corneal abrasions caused by contact lenses.

Is Perfect Hostess

WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Johnson was a perfect hostess but her father's beagle "Him" wasn't very cooperative when 4-year-old Paul C. Hawkins, the Muscular Dystrophy Association's national poster child, visited the White House Tuesday.

Paul brought along a green rubber bone. Luci had "Him" come in and meet the tow-haired youngster from Dillon, Mont.

But the dog merely sniffed the bone and flopped down on his back.

Luci introduced Paul, his sister, Danette, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hawkins, to her fiancé, Patrick J. Nugent.

An Unusual Ad

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Wanted — male — age 20-30, willing to relocate. Must love adventure, long duty hours, mosquitos and rain. I have been here too long. Need a replacement."

That classified ad, appearing in the Miami Herald, was placed by Army Spec. 4 William Witcraft, 22, who has been stationed in Viet Nam since February.

Witcraft, who lived in Miami with his wife, Kathryn, before being sent to Viet Nam, indicated a letter accompanying the advertisement that if no volunteers to replace him came forward, he'd be pleased to get some letters from his home town.

Neri, a former deputy sheriff and a Town of Olive constable, has had experience as cook at the county jail and also for Town of Olive churches and Fair Streets, announced today the fire department. His business will be known as Frankie's Chuck Wagon. He will continue in his present position at the county building.

Hudson Free Parking

Beginning Thursday and each Thursday for an indefinite period there will be free parking all day in Hudson, according to Police Commissioner Harold Horton. The free parking includes municipal parking lots on Columbia and Union Streets in addition to metered areas in the business district. Commissioner Horton and Police Chief William F. Egan approved the recommendation of the special parking committee of the Common Council. The committee had recommended a three-month trial period, but Commissioner Horton and Chief Egan set no time limit. If the free parking privileges are abused, Chief Egan said, Commissioner Horton will cancel the order.

Newburgh Bridge Comes Under Fire

WASHINGTON (AP)—"I assure you there will be no more two-lane bridges says an Illinois congressman about a new span across the Hudson River at Beacon and Newburgh, N.Y. Rep. John C. Klyczynski, D-Ill., added Tuesday that measures were under preparation that would prohibit construction of two-lane spans on four-lane highways, such as Interstate Route 84 in New York State.

Klyczynski presided over several House subcommittees conducting a joint hearing on toll facilities in the federal highway system.

M. F. Maloney, assistant federal highway administrator, and S. J. D'Amico of the federal-aid highway subcommittee staff said that New York authorities deliberately chose a two-lane bridge across the Hudson, although Route 84 is four lanes wide.

State officials, they said, felt that New York could not accept federal aid for the bridge since this would have required a four-lane bridge and greater costs. In addition, they said, state spokesmen decided that federal aid would have necessitated ear-marking tolls for repayment of that one bridge, which would have become a free bridge ahead of the other four Hudson River toll spans, whose tolls are pooled.

The two said the New York authority decided it could not have one free bridge and four toll bridges across the river. They said the state believes that the two-lane bridge will be adequate for about 20 years and that a second, parallel bridge will be constructed when needed. That view was countered by a spokesman for the American Automobile Association, who said toll roads and bridges are "the most expensive method of building highways." He said financing costs, through bond issues, raised expenses.

Hearing Is Scheduled To Raise Seaway Tolls

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—A hearing on whether to raise St. Lawrence Seaway tolls opened today in Chicago — and was greeted by heavy fire from Gov. Otto Kerner.

Kerner said Tuesday that higher tolls would have a crippling effect on the use of the waterway because it would "lessen the use of the seaway and reduce income."

presented today to the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., which is conducting the hearing.

He said he was disturbed that the major impetus for raising the tolls comes "from private and public interests representing the East Coast area."

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Town Chairman Makes Statement On Meredith Case

Democratic Town Chairman John O. Bonilla, of Woodstock, has released the following letter, concerning the shooting of James Meredith, to this column:

"Less than one hour before I sat down to write this letter, James Meredith was shot in the back from ambush by an unknown assassin. Authorities have since charged a white man from Memphis with the assault. The particular details of this incident and the identity of the deranged mind that conceived this means of striking out at a world he fears and does not understand are irrelevant. What is important is that here in the United States of America, a country whose citizens pride themselves on being the most civilized in the world, there exists an aura of fear and terror, brought about by a small minority of uneducated and miseducated defenders of a caste system that is based on the mistaken assumption that they through an accident of birth, are superior to their fellow man.

"A few laws have been passed by Congress, and ostensibly put into effect by this and previous administrations, designed to relieve the loss of basic rights by some of our citizens. However, the passage of laws alone will not bring a change in those of our fellow Americans who deem it their right to subject other citizens to fear, intimidation and even murder. It will require a conscious effort on the part of the average American, who respects the rights of others, to make known to the usurper of these rights, that his actions will not be tolerated by decent people, that he WILL be brought to justice and punished by an aroused citizenry, and that the law enforcement agencies and courts of this country WILL uphold the rights of all people to live peacefully. It will require the exertion of forceful leadership on the part of our President and his administration to convince the faint of heart and the agencies of local government that they must unite to combat prejudice and bigotry.

"James Meredith was a peaceful man. Even when he served as the instrument for integrating the University of Mississippi, he was most noted for his self-effacement and soft voice. When a man of quiet courage like James Meredith can be attacked from ambush and shot in the back, it is time for every American to cry out in indignation and demand that this country be made safe for any citizen to walk a public highway in safety. We must make it our business to protect the rights of ALL citizens regardless of color, creed or origin, and to believe that we ARE "our brother's keeper." If we do not accomplish this, the day may come when no one, white or black, Christian or Jew, man or woman, can live without looking fearfully over his shoulder."

Call Blood Bank Very Successful

Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee this week extended public thanks to all residents who answered the committee's urgent appeal recently for blood donors.

Sincere thanks, the committee said, goes to all those who came forward and donated blood at the Blood Bank drawing held in late May. These volunteers have enabled the committee to carry on this worthwhile community project which aids the sick and disabled in regaining their health.

The committee also expressed its gratitude to Dr. Kenneth M. Bremer, who donated time and services during the drawing, and to Dr. Margaret Trindle, who recently opened offices in Woodstock, for time spent during the drawing. Thanks went also to the Rev. Edward Schmidt, new vicar of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church, for allowing the committee to use the church hall and all its facilities for the drawing.

Mrs. Arthur Jones, publicity chairman of the committee, reported that the Blood Bank was very successful.

Spratt Succeeds Kahn in Jaycees

JOHN SPRATT

Woodstock Junior Chamber of Commerce has elected John Spratt, IBM engineer, new president of the organization. He succeeds W. Jack Kahn, also of IBM. Spratt has served as secretary-treasurer of the Woodstock Jaycees for the past year and has been associated with the group's activities for two years.

The new president, his wife, Margaret, and their children have resided on Nissen Lane, West Hurley, for the past six months.

Other newly elected officers of the Woodstock Jaycees include: Ralph Perry, Vincent Caliendo and Robert Sleight, all of Rotron Manufacturing Co., Inc., as internal vice-president, external vice-president and secretary-treasurer respectively. Paul DeLisio, of New York Life, and Dom Vanacore, of Shokan Stair-builders, were elected members at large. All new officers will be installed at the annual installation banquet Saturday at Deane's Restaurant.

Teenage Art Show Holds Fourth Now

The second annual Woodstock Teenage Art Show is being held this week, through June 13, at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsman Gallery. Three prominent Woodstock artists will be judges for the exhibit: Manuel Bromberg, Walter Plate, and Bernard Steffen.

Pupils who will play are Lynn Bailey, Pamela Sinnott, Margaret Kiernan, Janet Landstrom, Suzanne Goddard, Vincent Berzal, Diane Richell, Michael Reynolds, Betty Ann Brudniak, Allison Keesley, Julie Harder, David Jeffery, Brenda Richell, Ronald Deak, Bonnie Henry, Ruth Battaglia, Brooks Henry and Joanne Brudniak.

The public is invited to attend.

Turnau Program On TV Sunday

One of the most exciting aspects of the repertoire performed by the Turnau Opera Players is the willingness of the directors to experiment with various art forms. Last summer one experiment which amounted to the creation of a new art form was very successful; this was the interpretation of song cycles by Ravel and Britten by one singer and a company of dancers.

This Sunday, the Britten song cycle, Illuminations, which was presented at the Byrdcliffe theater last summer, will be seen on the 11 a. m. program Camera Three. Norman Walker will direct the program and four of his dancers will interpret the music. Tenor John Thomas, who sang several roles with Turnau last summer, will be the vocal soloist. Musical director will be Herbert Kaplan.

Ulster County may well be proud of its support of this highly professional and creative company whose work is fast becoming nationally known. Among the experimental works which will be part of this summer's repertoire are Carl Orff's The Wise Woman (Die Kluge), Bluebeard's Castle by Bela Bartok and Arnold Schoenberg's Erwartung.

Turnau's 12th summer season opens July 8. For further information, call or write Turnau Opera, Woodstock.

Gallery-on-Green Sets Second Show

A sculpture and drawing exhibition, the second event of the Woodstock Artists Association's summer season, will open at the Gallery-on-the-Green this weekend. The Association will celebrate the opening with a lawn party Friday, from 4 to 6 p. m.

This will be a juried show, and members are reminded to bring in their works — sculpture or drawing — on the preceding day, Thursday, 4 to 6 p. m.

The jury for the selection of the exhibit will be: Walter Plate, Anton Refregier and Thyra Davidson Wexler.

The public is cordially invited to view this exhibition through June 29; gallery hours are 1 to 5:30 daily (except Tuesday), and Friday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9.

Philip Held Wins Kleinert Award

Woodstock artist Philip Held has been named winner of the annual Herminie E. Kleinert Award in the amount of $300. Held, a prominent and prolific painter, has been honored with several one man shows in New York City and has exhibited in Woodstock for several years. A teacher, as well as an artist, he joins a lengthy and impressive list of artists who have received the Kleinert Award over the years.

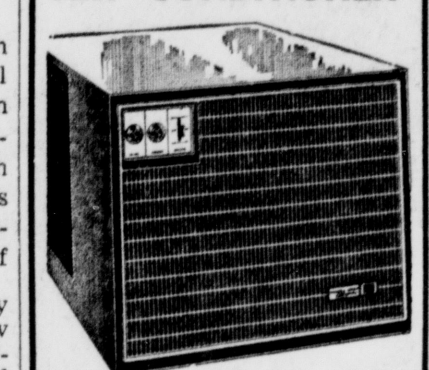

The award is made yearly on the anniversary of the birthday of the late Herminie E. Kleinert, a long time resident of Woodstock before her death.

Open Payment Agency

The New York Telephone Company announces the opening of a payment agency at the Rondout National Bank in the Bradeley Meadows Shopping Center, Woodstock, effective June 1. It is hoped that this agency will serve as a great convenience to the subscribers in the area, a telephone company spokesman said.

Commander Leads Attack In Viet With 'Spirits of 76'

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

ABOARD CARRIER ENTERPRISE OFF NORTH VIET NAM (AP) — Three times in 24 hours Cmdr. James Linder, 40, led attack Squadron 76 in air attacks on North Viet Nam.

It was a grueling and dangerous day's work for the Navy flier from Virginia Beach, Va.

But for Linder and his "Spirits of 76" Squadron, and for the other squadrons like it on the Enterprise, it was fairly routine.

Linder and the score of pilots in his squadron fly the delta-wing A4C Skyhawk. This single-seat supersonic jet carries 2½ tons of bombs, including an improved version of the Bullpup air-to-ground guided missile.

Linder and his fliers reported for work at 9 a.m.

Their day started, like many others, with two hours of briefings.

Their mission had the code name Rolling Thunder. The target area was Nam Dinh, 50 miles southwest of Hanoi.

The "Spirits of 76" were to strike at railroad yards, supply dumps and port facilities.

Intelligence officers said a lot of Communist supplies had piled up because previous American air assaults had cut rail lines and roads leading south. Also, rains had hampered supply movements.

Intelligence reports and aerial photos also showed Nam Dinh was heavily defended with a ring of anti-aircraft and missile sites.

By 11 a.m. Linder and his squadron were on the flight deck, and the launch by steam catapult began.

Within 10 to 15 minutes Linder and some of his squadron had converged at a prearranged point for the assault.

Linder and his pilots moved in on Nam Dinh for the strike, unloading their explosives in less than a minute.

An escorting radar plane sounded a missile alert. This meant the North Vietnamese were firing surface-to-air missiles.

Linder's fliers had to be ready to maneuver to evade the "flying telephone poles."

Linder said later: "This was the first SAM that some of the pilots saw. Their (North Vietnamese) guidance was bad, and the missile exploded two miles in front of us."

Within an hour after take-off the "Spirits of 76" were back aboard the enterprise.

Then came an hour of debriefings, first with intelligence officers and then in the squadron's own briefing room to talk over hits and errors.

"We did better today than I've seen on two-thirds of the strikes I've been on," Linder said. "Our bombs went where our aiming point was."

The squadron headed for lunch and a quick nap. By 2 p.m. they were back in the

Niagara Company Seeks Injunction To Stop Strike

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A striking technicians' union must show cause today in Supreme Court why an injunction should not be issued to stop its strike against Bell Aerosystems Co.

The company sought the injunction Tuesday, contending that the strike, which began midnight Sunday over a pension dispute, is in violation of a no-strike clause in the union's three-year contract.

The order was issued by Judge Rollin B. Fancher who scheduled the hearing on the injunction in Buffalo.

Files Damage Suit

Bell also filed Tuesday a damage suit in federal court against the union. The company says $300,000 damages for the loss suffered from the strike Monday and Tuesday, and $150,000 each day the strike continues plus interest and costs.

The strike, called by Loc 205, American Federation of Technical Engineers (AFL-CIO) shut down production. About 1,800 members of other unions refused to cross the technician picket lines.

Bell's plant in Wheatfield remains open, but its test facility in the nearby Town of Porter was closed.

The dispute involved a clause in the technicians' pact which permitted the reopening of discussions on pension benefits. The company contends that the clause provided for the reopening of negotiations on pensions at midnight Sunday, but did not permit a strike.

The union seeks a larger company contribution to pension funds and a reduction in the retirement age from 65 to 62.

The technicians voted Tuesday to remain on strike, but management said it will not negotiate as long as the walkout continues.

Meanwhile, negotiations continued between management and Locals 501 and 516, United Auto Workers (AFL-CIO), representing about 1,800 members. Their agreement expired at midnight Sunday, but they agreed to work without a contract during negotiations.

Levitt Warns Of Fiscal Crisis

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State warns that a possible "fiscal crisis" could arise if federal aid is not provided to back up the state's controversial medical aid plan.

Levitt said Tuesday he interpreted the provisions of the five week-old program to mean the state would be required to continue the plan, even if the federal government withheld funds.

The program pays medical bills for those unable to afford medical care. The federal government is expected to pay half the cost, with the state and local governments splitting the other half.

Levitt issued his warning in a letter to Social Welfare Commissioner George K. Wyman, Health Commissioner Hollis S.

Ingraham and Budget Director T. Norman Hurd.

At the same time, he asked the three to join him in preparing auditing and accounting procedures for the medical-aid program.

State officials have estimated the total cost of expanded program would reach $532 million the first year.

In another medical aid development, spokesmen for Blue Cross and Blue Shield health insurance plans across the state expressed doubt that the new law would result in lower premiums.

Gov. Rockefeller said Tuesday that some subscribers would receive rate reductions ranging from 10 to 30 per cent, but Blue Cross spokesmen denied the possibility.

If a man weighing 150 pounds on earth could be carried to the sun, he would weigh nearly two tons.

Artie Shaw Leaves Music, Heads Own Movie Company

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Artie Shaw was always the maverick of the swing-music world — a rebel, an innovator, a restless talent who soon wearied of tooting his clarinet for the masses. He continues his maverick ways as head of his own movie company, Artix Productions.

Now 56 with shaved head, Shaw was here to show Hollywood his latest release, "Enough Rope," a French-made thriller starring Gert Frobe ("Goldfinger"). Shaw's offices are in New York and he has scant affection for Hollywood, which he knew intimately during his bandleading and marrying days.

Nor does he have the slightest sentiment for his heyday in the swing era.

Wonders How

"I look at some of my contemporaries who are still leading bands and I wonder how they do it," he sighed. "All that living out of a trunk and playing the same things night after night!

"They aren't even selling music any more; they're selling nostalgia to middle-aged people who want to relive their youth," Shaw tried to break out of the band business several times. He finally managed it in 1950, only to return in 1953.

"I went back only to feed some cows," he explained. "I had acquired a farm and 80 cows, and they were eating their way through my money. I earned enough to keep the farm going and then I quit again.

"Now I'll never go back. You can believe that when I say that I recently turned down $25,000 to appear for four minutes on a television special.

"In the first place, I would have to practice steadily for six months before I could stand to hear my own playing. And in the second place, I don't like to hear the clarinet that well."

Quit, Clarinet

Shaw finally quit the clarinet to see if he could write. He discovered he could, and he produced a novel, "The Trouble with Cinderella." In 1956, he retired to Spain with his eighth wife, Evelyn Keyes, to whom he has been married nine years.

After five years, retirement began to pale on Shaw, who admittedly is part-introvert, part-activist. He decided to get active again, this time in the movie business.

Too Much Water

More gardeners run into trouble with houseplants by watering too much rather than too little. The indoor environment of a plant should match as nearly as possible the environment of its natural outdoor home. Water at regular intervals, permitting the plant to soak up all the water it can hold, then let it stand, as though waiting for the next rain.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: This is in regard to the hint about frying a big batch of bacon ahead of time and heating portions of it in the oven as needed.

I have found a simple way to prepare bacon in the oven without frying it beforehand.

Light the oven, set at 400 degrees and let pre-heat.

Place a wire grill or cooling rack on a cookie sheet that has been lined with foil and lay your bacon slices on the grill.

Pop this into the oven, and set your timer at 10 minutes and forget about it. No turning is necessary.

Remove bacon while still hot and drain on paper towels.

If you have never used this method before, you may want to take a peek before the 10 minutes are up, since the baking time may vary slightly for different brands of bacon (due to thickness, etc.), and according to the desired degree of crispness one wants.

This method not only leaves you free to attend to the rest of the breakfast preparation, but also turns out a straight strip of bacon, done to perfection on both sides.

Mrs. Fred Epstein

I tried this method and it is wonderful.

The most fabulous thing about this is that all of the grease from the bacon dripped onto my foil and there was no dirty pan to clean.

The bacon cooked uniformly throughout, instead of having portions of uncooked fat, and the strip did not shrink as it does when fried.

Also, the bacon drippings I captured were a beautiful clear white (for use later) instead of the brownish color it is when I use a frying pan.

A big bunch of love to Mrs. Epstein for this breakfast hint.

Dear Heloise:

If you happen to have left-over paper and envelopes with an old address on same...

Buy several seals of flowers, butterflies, etc., and arrange attractively over obsolete address, matching envelopes and paper with the same color seals. Quite attractive, too.

Donna Rosta Tucker

Dear Heloise:

My sister, who is very tidy, thought this one up:

Use a tall olive bottle to store wire "twist-ems" from grocery packages to reuse after straightening them out.

Theodora

Dear Folks:

For those of you who have a glass shelf above the vegetable tray in your refrigerator, here's a little hint you might appreciate.

If that piece of glass does not have some sort of protection, put some adhesive-backed tape along the front edge.

There are two very good reasons for this:

It might keep you from cutting your hand when you reach in for a head of lettuce. Also, looking closely, I found that the edges along my glass were chipped. Now where did this glass go?

Probably down into the vegetable drawer!

Those who break their shelves and order new one, might think about purchasing plastic. It won't chip.

—Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Did you know that one of your husband's T-shirts is a wonderful emergency night shirt if a child decides he'd like to spend the night with you but didn't bring along pajamas?

Our little overnight visitors (boys and girls) have all thought it was a wonderful idea.

Grandmother

Dear Heloise:

I tried many places to get a new mat for the top of my stove, but could not find the correct size.

So... I just covered the old mat with adhesive-backed plastic paper, and it's like new again.

Kenneth Y. Pauker Is KHS Valedictorian; Making Plans to Attend Harvard College

(Editor's Note: In yesterday's Freeman, Pauker was erroneously listed as salutatorian of his class. This article is a correction.)

When the Kingston High School Class of 1966 meets for its commencement ceremonies on Sunday, June 26 in Dietz Stadium, Kenneth Y. Pauker will deliver the valedictorian address. Pauker, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Pauker of 207 Pearl Street, this city, was named valedictorian of his class in an announcement released by Dan Allen, principal of Kingston High School. Taking honors as salutatorian is Mark Brower, son of Irving and Elaine Brower of 107 Northfield Street, Kingston.

This is the second valedictorian honor for the Pauker family. Kenneth's brother Stephen, who is completing his second year at the Harvard Medical School, was valedictorian of the KHS Class of 1960. Kenneth Pauker is planning also to attend Harvard.

As an undergraduate, Kenneth Pauker was editor-in-chief of the school newspaper, Dame Rumor, and associate editor of the school literary magazine, Reason and Rhyme. His activities also include the following:

KENNETH Y. PAUKER

president of the National Honor Society; vice president of French Honor Society; member of Key Club, Hi-Y, Ski Club, Senior Class Executive Council, Lively Arts Club and intermural softball team.

Pauker has received the Harvard Book Prize, honorable mention in French II, National Association of Teachers of French Exam, National Merit Letter of Commendation and a New York State Regents Scholarship.

Mark Brower, who is salutatorian of his class, is planning to attend the University College of Arts and Science, a division of New York University, under the Scholars Program, a cultural enrichment program limited to a small number of select students.

Brower plans to become an aerospace physicist when he earns his PhD in physics and he would like to work in the research and development of rockets and aircraft. He is particularly interested in the man-in-space program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Brower will deliver the salutatorian address.

Philharmonic Launches Subscription Drive

A re-subscription campaign conducted among current members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society, Ulster County Chapter, has resulted in the sale of more than half of available reserved tickets for the new series, according to Norman Rafalowsky, subscription chairman.

In a statement issued jointly by Mr. Rafalowsky and Dr. Richard Messina of Saugerties, Ulster County Chapter president, the Philharmonic is offering four concerts during 1966-67 instead of the usual three.

The new season will feature Rudolf Firkusny, pianist, November 7; Szymon Goldberg, violinist, January 16; winner of the Young Artists' Competition on March 13; and Bernard Greenhouse, cellist, May 13.

In accordance with past practice, seating preferences will be honored on a "first-come, first-served" basis. Detailed information about the campaign may be obtained from Dr. Messina or Mr. Rafalowsky.

Mr. Sidney N. Miller, president of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Society has announced plans to fete the Philharmonic musicians on Sunday, June 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fried, Pleasant Plains Road, Staatsburg.

Chairman of the event is Mrs. O. Howard Winn of Poughkeepsie. Assisting are Dr. Messina, Saugerties; Mrs. Eugene L. Cohan, Newburgh; Kurt Grishman, Hyde Park; Mrs. Robert Fried, Staatsburg; Mrs. Philip G. Swartz, Mrs. David DeWitt, Mrs. Seymour Seplov, Mrs. Vernon Jones and Mrs. Matthew Lettieri, Poughkeepsie.

Valter Despalj, runner up in the Young Artists' Competition held in Poughkeepsie on May 14, won second prize recently in a Washington, D. C. competition for violinists and cellists.

Mr. Despalj, 17, a cellist, received a $750 second prize in the Merriweather Post Competition involving 26 international string players. This annual contest is a tribute to Mrs. Merriweather Post, and is sponsored by the Washington National Symphony. The contest seeks to find and reward the finest young violinist or cellist. This competition, rich in rewards and prestige, attracts many of America's most talented music students and launches them on a career

We the Women

By RUTH MILLETT

A reader who begins her letter with "HELP, PLEASE" has a real problem. After 23 years of marriage, her husband suddenly put her on a food allowance for the family that is unrealistically small. In fact, it just won't stretch far enough.

The kind of help she wants is hints on how to make her weekly food allowance go further than food dollars today can possibly go.

It seems to me she is looking for the wrong solution to her problem. What she needs to be able to do is to educate her husband — so that he, too, knows the limits to which a food dollar can be stretched.

Any husband who hasn't done any real grocery buying in the last few years has no business deciding how much a week his wife needs for groceries.

If he decides, anyway, without consulting his wife, then she ought to insist that he plan the meals and buy the groceries himself.

If he is so sure that certain amount will feed his family, he ought to be willing to prove it. Otherwise, he ought to let the one who plans the meals and does the marketing figure out what is a reasonable food allowance.

All too often, a husband gets it into his head that his wife must be extravagant simply because he isn't aware of how much the things she purchases for the family keep going up in price.

That's not the time for a woman to argue or to try desperately to get by on what her husband arbitrarily decides she needs.

That's the time to undertake a little educational project. To hand him money right back to him and say: "Maybe you can stretch it further than I can. And if you can, you can show me how."

Brian Bach is Top Player as KHS Dominates All-DUSO Team

Rios, Schatzel, Perry, Dugan Also Selected

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Brian Bach, who pitched Kingston High to the DUSO Baseball league championship with three straight shutouts, including a no-hitter, heads the 1966 All-Star team, as selected Tuesday by members of the DUSO Sportswriters and Broadcasters Assn.

The fireballing righthander was a unanimous choice as "Player of the Year," and his credentials show the reason why. Bach beat Port Jervis, 2-0, on a two-hitter; Newburgh, 9-0, on a three-hitter and Middletown, 3-0, on the no-hitter and near perfect game. He was also credited with a win in a two-inning relief stint against Middletown. To complete his great season, Bach also relieved for an inning against Port Jervis, thus taking part in five of the six KHS league victories.

Joining Bach on the first team are teammates Jack Schatzel, first base; Greg Rios, second base; Lou Perry, shortstop and Bill Dugan, outfield. Pitcher Gene Rios and third baseman Pete Watzka earned honorable mention.

The rest of the All-Star team includes pitcher Jim McCoey, Port Jervis; catcher Pat Doogan, Newburgh; third baseman John Bell, Port Jervis; outfielders Bill Barnes, Middletown, and Carman Prisco, Port Jervis.

The Big Story

Though the team is a talented one, Bach has to be the story of the year. He hurled 24 innings, didn't give up an earned run, was touched for only six hits while walking eight and striking out 45 batters.

Rios, the only freshman on the team, was moved to the varsity level just prior to the first league game. He led Kingston in batting with a .400 average.

Schatzel, the fancy fielding first baseman, rapped .312 and drove in eight runs. Three of his five hits were doubles. Dugan batted .294 and covered the outfield like a rug. Perry hit .267 but scored seven runs and fielded at shortstop with the best of them.

Bell's selection is his third straight. Bach made the team as a sophomore but missed last season. Doogan and Perry were named for the second consecutive year.

Masons Get 2-1 Win On Key Hit

Solid relief pitching by Steve Van Dyke and a clutch double by John Berardi with two men on in the bottom of the sixth gave the Masons a 2-1 victory over the K of C in a Babe Ruth League game.

The other game was a rout with Food Fair racking up a 20-8 victory over KPA.

Pete Koola had a pair of singles for the K of C squad. The losers outthrew the winners 7-2 but they were scattered hits.

In the other game, Paul DeCicco had a pair of hits including a double for the winners as did Ricky Vogan and Kevin Murphy. Vince Gorman had a double for the losers and Chris Miers had a triple.

Tonight's games are Hurley vs BRL at 6 p. m. at Dietz Stadium and the Elks vs the VFW at the same time at the Athletic Field.

Mike Rienzo Is Named 'Coach of the Year'

A former star athlete at Kingston High has been named "Coach of the Year" in the DUSO Baseball League. Mike Rienzo, who starred in the three major sports, guided the KHS nine to a perfect 6-0 league record and an overall mark of 13-1-1, one of the best at the school in recent years.

Rienzo took over the varsity reins in 1965 after the untimely death of head coach Al Gruner. Kingston finished in a triple tie for top spot with Newburgh and Poughkeepsie and lost in a playoff game. Newburgh eventually captured the title.

This year, the Maroon team bowed to Lourdes and was tied by Beacon. Aside from those blemishes, the club posted double wins over Newburgh, Middletown, Port Jervis, Roosevelt and Saugerties and solo decisions over Arlington, Beacon and Lourdes.

In addition to his duties as varsity baseball coach, Rienzo also handles the jayvee basketball team. He is director of ath-

Fiscaletti Hurls No-Hitter In Saugerties Softball Loop

Bill Fiscaletti pitched the first no-hit, no-run game in the Saugerties Softball League, as Glasco Athletic Club blanked Miller's Rexall, 6-0, and moved into a first place tie with Anton's Restaurant with 3-0 records.

Four men got on base for Rexall's, two by walks and two by errors. Fiscaletti struck out four and won the decision over Fred Seither, who yielded eight hits.

The no-hitter was saved by Ray Lasher, who batted down a vicious line drive and threw out the runner. Last year, Fiscaletti went into the last inning of game before infield bleachers ruined a no-hitter.

Ed Riozzi stroked a double and single for the A.C. Bob Wolven and Joe Roberti had two hits each and Fiscaletti hit a double.

Pirates Explode Against Gibson For 9-1 Victory

By DICK COUCH

Harry Walker's biggest problem this month has been keeping four of the National League's top five hitters busy in a three-man outfield.

The problem disappeared Tuesday night. Two of them couldn't see.

But the two who could — Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell — combined for five hits as the Pittsburgh Pirates blasted St. Louis 9-1 with an eight-run eighth-inning explosion and extended their June winning streak to six games.

Manny Mota and Matty Alou, half of the Pirates' outstanding outfield quartet, complained before the game that their vision was impaired by eyedrops given them during an afternoon examination by a doctor.

Gibson Collapses

The Cardinals' Bob Gibson threw invisible baseballs for three innings, striking out 12, before the Pirates caught him in their sights. Clemente triggered the eighth-inning rally with a single, capped it with a three-run homer and finished with three hits in five trips.

Stargell, whose string of consecutive hits was snapped at nine by Gibson in the first inning, picked up two hits afterward. Mota got into the game as a pinch runner and finished in center field but did not bat.

Mota leads the league in batting with a .345 average while Alou and Stargell are tied for third at .329 and Clemente shares the No. 5 spot with Houston's Joe Morgan at .328. Dave Nicholson of the Astros is second with a .336 mark.

Jim Bunning won his eighth straight as Philadelphia whipped Cincinnati 5-1; Nicholson, John Bateman and Sonny Jackson led Houston past San Francisco 10-9; Los Angeles topped Chicago 8-6 on 10th inning homers by Al Ferrara and Jim Lefebvre, and Atlanta bombed New York 11-6 in other National League action.

Bunning Fans 14

Bunning, now 8-1, struck out 14 Cincinnati batters and allowed only three hits as the Phillies breezed to their eighth triumph in the last nine games. Bill White cracked a two-run inside-the-park homer in the first inning and Cookie Rojas hit a bases-empty shot in the seventh for the winners.

Three hits apiece by Jackson, Nicholson and Bateman helped Houston outlast the Giants, who have dropped four of their last five. Dave Giusti won his seventh in 10 decisions but needed relief help when the Giants scored three runs in the eighth two on a homer by Tom Haller.

Lefebvre hit his 12th homer, breaking a 6-6 tie in the 10th inning and Ferrara followed with his second of the game on a fly ball that dropped in left field when shortstop Don Kessinger and left fielder Byron Browne collided.

John Roseboro had pulled the Dodgers even at 6-6 with a lead-off homer in the eighth. Joe Torre's three-run blast capped a seven-run uprising in the fifth that erased a 5-0 New York lead. The Braves wrapped up their fourth straight victory with three more runs in the sixth.

Bach Hurls One-Hitter

Fresh off his glittering high school accomplishments, Brian Bach of Elmer's Inn one-hit Kingston All Stars, 11-2, in the City Baseball League Tuesday night.

Bach fanned 13 and lost his no-hitter in the sixth inning when Tony Gallo drilled a clean single to right. The All Stars scored two unearned runs on a walk to Dom Berardi, Gallo's single and an outfield error.

Elmer's combined five hits with eight walks and several errors for the easy win. There were no extra base hits.

Forty-Two Players Will Vie in 16th Annual Herdegen Golf

County Tourney Opens Saturday At Wiltwyck CC

By CHARLES J. TIANO
(Freeman Sports Editor)

Forty-two players, including six past champions, tee off in the first round of the 16th annual Herdegen Memorial Saturday at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Winner of the 72-hole medal test over four area golf courses is recognized as the Ulster County Amateur champion, Harvey Bostic of Wiltwyck Country Club is the defending champion.

Only William (Buzzy) Costello will be missing among the past champions. Those who have automatically qualified for the championship include Bill Van Aken, Woodstock; Leon Randall, Herdegen; George Hughes, Herdegen; Rick Barthel and Clarence Raichle, Twaalfskill.

The champion will receive a trophy. The remaining 11 winners receive merchandise prizes.

The field will be reduced to the low 24 scorers and ties after 36 holes. Sunday's round is scheduled at Woodstock Country Club. Third round will be played at Shawangunk Country Club, Ellenville; with the finale Sunday, June 19 at Twaalfskill.

Four-Time Champions

A pair of four-time champions—Leon Randall and George Hughes—will seek an unprecedented fifth title. Randall, the only man to win the tournament in successive years (1959-60) missed the chance when he lost to Buzzy Costello in a sudden death playoff in 1963.

Bill Van Aken, Woodstock champion, has captured three titles. Single winners include Clarence Raichle, Twaalfskill; Harvey Bostic, Herdegen; and Rick Barthel, Twaalfskill.

Roberts, 57, who won the title in 1955 while living in Columbus, Ohio, shot a two-under-par 70 Tuesday in the first round of the two-day 36-hole tournament. He was helped on his 10th hole when his chip to the green hit one of his playing partner's ball and rebounded into the cup for a birdie 3.

Roberts, along with most in the field of 415, was caught on the course when a severe wind and rainstorm broke. Play was resumed after 1½ hours and many did not post any score.

Egon F. Quittner of Jenkintown, Pa., was a stroke behind Roberts at 71 with Adrian C. McManus of Windermere, Fla., third at 72.

Tied at 73 were Robert Kiersky of Pittsburgh, Allen DuBois of Plainfield, N.J., and Richard Guellich, Jr. of Buffalo, N.Y.

Fred Brand, Jr., a husky 56-year-old from Pittsburgh, who won the championship last year, appeared out of the running. He shot an 86.

Harvey Bostic, the defender, and Rick Barthel.

The roster of Herdegen champions follows:
Leon Randall (4)—1957, 277; 1959, 282; 1960, 288; 1963, 292, tied with Costello, lost on 5th extra hole.
George Hughes (4)—1951, 208 (54 holes); 1954, 286; 1956, 286; 1961, 211 (54 holes).

Bill Van Aken (3)—1953, 287; 1955, 213 (54 holes); 1958, 275 (tournament record).
Clarence Raichle (1)—1952, 303.
Buzzy Costello (1)—1963, 292 (beat Randall in playoff).

Ricky Barthel (1)—1964, 282.
Harvey Bostic (1)—1965, 281.

The tournament record for a round—63—is shared by two players—Hughes (1953) and Barthel (1964). Both scores were posted at Woodstock Country Club.

Top Darkhorse
The tournament is heavily flavored with college and high school talent this year. The outstanding newcomer appears to be Bill Ordeneal of the State U. (New Paltz) athletic staff. A scratch player, Ordeneal could take it all.

Colleagues include Bill Cutler, State U.; Neil Pauker, Princeton; Dan Gaffney, Boston College; Wayne Bock, Spier College; Doug Sheppard, the New Paltz coach is also in the field.

Jordan Pauker and Tom Gaffney of Kingston High and Ross Van Wagenen, Ontario, represent the high school field. Alex Sharpe III of Woodstock, who attended college in Maine, is another starter.

New York State Harness Roundup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Luscious Lou edged Molly Brook Dean by a head and won the first division of the $2,000 race at Vernon Downs Tuesday night—to unseat Molly as the fastest juvenile sidewheeler in the nation this year.

The special, non-betting event, clocked in 2:01 3/5, highlighted the night's action on harness tracks in New York State.

The pair of 2-year-old stablemates crossed the finish line 15 lengths ahead of the field, led by third-place Dr. Thad J. Breckenridge ($460) won the second division, covering the mile in 2:05.

Last week, also at Vernon, Molly became the fastest juvenile when she edged Lou by a neck in the mile in 2:01 4/5. In that race, the remainder of the field trailed by 23 lengths.

Penny Rhythm and Pettit-pone won the first and second races at Vernon and returned $1,146 to 10 holders of daily-double tickets.

In featured races at other harness tracks in New York State:
SARATOGA SPRINGS—Rushington ($260) won the $3,000 Darn Safe trot at Saratoga Raceway. The mile was clocked in 2:09 2/5.

ROOSEVELT—Sly Yankee ($3280) closed with a rush and won the Invitation Pace at Roosevelt Raceway in 2:02 2/5.

BUFFALO—Colonel Lew ($3420), a 16-1 shot, won the $1,400 pace at Buffalo Raceway, covering the mile in 2:05 1/5.

List Cleveland And Pittsburgh For NBA Berths

BALTIMORE (AP) — Cleveland and Pittsburgh loomed as major contenders today for National Basketball Association franchises following an announcement that the NBA would add two new teams to its 10-city league by the 1968-69 season.

"Their prior interest in joining the NBA would certainly be a factor," admitted NBA President Walter Kennedy Tuesday.

Kennedy made his comment after a meeting of the NBA board of governors, composed of one representative from each team.

Besides announcing the approval of the two-team addition, the board also rejected Cincinnati's request for transfer from its Eastern Division to the West.

Kennedy said a principal reason for the rejection was the desire of opposing team owners "to maintain some semblance of stability." Cincinnati was in the Western Division until 1962, when it was shifted to the East to make room for Chicago, whose franchise since has been switched to Baltimore.

Before the end of today's meeting, Kennedy said the owners will formally discuss a proposal to raise the team player limit from 11 to 12.

In other action Tuesday, the board voted to eliminate bonus drafts of players by the last team in each division. The draft was begun two years ago but skipped this year to take care of stocking Chicago.

Frank Robinson Starts 'Second' Career in A.L.

By MURRAY CHASS

This is Frank Robinson's first year in the American League, and already he's starting a second season.

The Baltimore slugger began the second week of his new season Tuesday night, driving in the winning run with his fourth hit of the game as the Orioles edged Washington 6-5 in 12 innings.

Robinson, acquired from Cincinnati in baseball's biggest winter deal, began his first year in the AL explosively, getting nearly as many hits as outs and rocketing to a .474 average by April 29. But one month and a steady drop later, Robinson was hitting .308.

A shoulder injury and a pulled muscle in his right leg were believed at least partly responsible for the slide, so Robinson was given a rest.

Now that he's returned to the line-up, it's as if he's starting the season all over.

The 30-year-old right fielder sat out the second game of a doubleheader May 30, then batted only twice the next day and pinch hit the day after that. He rested for another whole game before getting back into fulltime action, and now his record resembles that of the first few weeks.

In his last 25 times at bat, Robinson has lashed 15 hits, including four homers, scored 19 runs and driven in eight. That has been enough to shoot his average up to .351, an increase of 43 points that has thrust him to the top of the league in hitting.

In that same period, the second-place Orioles have won seven of nine games and moved from three games behind league-leading Cleveland to within five percentage points of the top.

With Robinson hitting explosively again, the Indians might be happy to have the season end right now.

In other AL games, New York edged Cleveland 7-2, California nipped Chicago 3-2 and Minnesota whipped Kansas City 6-1, two-innings.

Matthews Would Retain Office of Justice of Peace

S. James Matthews, attorney of Kingston and a candidate for the Republican nomination for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention, has declared that he is "unequivocally opposed" to any change in our state constitution that would mandate the abolishment of the office of Justice of the Peace.

In a letter mailed to the 79 Justices of the Peace in the 38th Senatorial District, the Kingston attorney said "My main objection to proposals to abolish the office of Justice of the Peace is that this would be just one further example of the removal of government from the people."

District Judges have been urged by some people as a substitute for the present magistrate's system.

Some of the populace counties of the state have adopted the District Court System. All counties may now do so on a local option basis. Proposals have been advanced in some quarters, to make the District Courts mandatory and abolish the Justice of the Peace.

In criticizing the proposals to mandate the abolishment of the Justice of the Peace, "regardless of the desires of the electorate directly involved," Matthews commented, "In my opinion, neither Dutchess nor Ulster Counties are presently in a situation where the District Court would prove effective."

The letter of the Kingston attorney went on further to state that he believes "that local government which is obviously the most responsive to the needs and desires of the people should be strengthened, and not further eroded away, do believe in simple government," continued Matthews. "As Delegate to the Constitutional Convention, I will endeavor to give local government the powers necessary to firmly establish its rightful place of prominence."

Matthews in his letter, touching on one of the criticisms of the present Justice of the Peace system said "The provisions for the training of J.P.'s at our law schools and the self-education programs of county magistrate associations, have done much to blunt the criticism that our Justices of the Peace are not knowledgeable in the law."

The Kingston attorney also stated that he concurred "in the opinion of so many, that Justice's Court truly is, the 'people's court'."

S. James Matthews is one of four Republicans seeking the three Republican nominations for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention. He will run in the counties of Dutchess and Ulster at the June 28th Primary.

Rockefeller Signs Two New Measures

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's office announced today he had signed two measures to give New York City officials additional time to work out problems in the city's budget.

Rockefeller approved a bill extending by 10 days, until June 17, the deadline for the city to adopt its budget.

He also signed a measure to permit Mayor John V. Lindsay an extension of four days, until June 29, to fix the tax rate for each of the five boroughs in the city.

The measures were passed by the Legislature Tuesday.

Matthews Gets

pers on the Boards of Elections of Dutchess and Ulster Counties, as well as on the Secretary of State, is expected to be made today. The Secretary of State is involved since all nominating petitions for public office to be filed by a vote in a district comprising more than one county, must be filed in his office. The Election Law of the state imposes the duty on him to determine position on the ballot.

The reason for citing the Boards of Elections of the two counties in the 38th Senatorial District is that it is their function to prepare the actual primary ballot. Dutchess County intends to use voting machines at the June 28th election, while the Ulster Board has indicated they will use a paper ballot.

The petition of S. James Matthews in the court action indicated that when he filed his nominating petitions with the Secretary of State on May 26th, he made formal demand that the position of the Delegates to the Constitutional Convention be determined by lot. Drawings for position on the ballot for other offices were made on Monday morning in Albany. No drawings were made for Delegates to the Convention.

The Kingston attorney's petition indicated that in a phone conversation with John Ghazzi, Deputy Secretary of State on Monday afternoon, he was informed that the State office took the position that the Delegates should be selected in the same manner as delegates and alternates to political conventions. The law in that instance provides that those seeking political convention posts requires that preference be given to full slates of delegates in their order of appearance on the ballot over less than full slates.

Not Political Affair
Matthew's petition states "The Constitutional Convention is not a political party affair." His moving papers further declare "The Secretary of State should have relied upon Chapter 371 of the Laws of 1965 which states in Section 2 that Nominations of candidates for the office of district delegate may be made by parties and independent petitions in the manner provided in the Election Law for nomination of candidate for the office of state senator." If the election statutes concerning the nomination of state senator were followed the Kingston attorney contends, the election of the ballot would be determined by lot and would not occupy a line all by himself.

Matthews in commenting on his court action, said he was motivated to take the steps he did because too many people are of the opinion that the Constitutional Convention is not going to be much more than a partisan political convocation. "The Constitutional Convention is the most important governmental event of this century," he said. "If government is to be the servant of the people and not its master, we must have a modern state charter devoid of partisan political entanglements."

Two of my adversaries are attempting to run on the magnificent record of the third, that of Senator R. Watson Pomeroy," continued Matthews. "That is why they seemed to be lumped together with him. The League of Women Voters and others have decided the 'short-tail riding' of the slates for Delegates at Large to the Constitutional Convention. The same evil is being attempted in the 38th Senatorial District," concluded the Kingston attorney.

Matthews is former research counsel to the Joint Legislative Committee on Reapportionment and for ten years, served as a lecturer on government and politics to Empire State State. He is also a part time instructor at Ulster Community College.

An early decision is expected from the court because of the time involved in printing ballots and distributing them to the various polling places after the courts has made known its ruling.

Pass State . . .

at least five years by the person making application for the exemption.

Assemblyman Wilson stated that a similar tax exemption bill had been approved by the Legislature last year, but that the measure had been vetoed by the Governor. The Assemblyman said that he was hopeful that the Governor's objections had been overcome in the present bill, and that the measure would finally be signed into law this year. Wilson added that if the bill becomes law, the exemptions could be granted as soon as the appropriate action was taken at the local level.

Council Approves

from the State Department of Health for local action to approve a "secondary treatment" unit added to the East Strand sewage treatment plant.

It was noted in the state letter dealing with the latter that financial assistance would cover 60 per cent of cost. The program, as presently outlined, expires on March 31, 1972.

Action on traffic approved return to one-way traffic on Clinton Avenue between John and Pearl Streets, but continuation of two-way traffic on Wall Street between St. James and Franklin Streets.

Received Telegrams
Alderman George Margolis (R) First Ward, said he had received a telegram from uptown merchants favoring one-way traffic on the two Clinton Avenue blocks.

Alderman Peter J. Mancuso (D) Eighth Ward, and Edward Norton (D) Seventh Ward noted complaints against the service given by Kingston Cablevision Inc., and it was reported that a meeting was scheduled for tonight to discuss them.

Mancuso also noted complaints against large department stores remaining open on holidays, particularly Memorial Day. While this did not directly concern the Common Council, he said, he hoped it would come to the attention of the Board of Supervisors for some consideration.

Alderman Joseph Epstein (D) Sixth Ward, moved for a vote on asking that Corporation Counsel Vernon Murphy appeal a recent decision by Supreme Court Justice Sidney Foster which voided the Linderman Avenue zoning change vote of April 22.

petition for the change was by the Income Fund Enterprises Corp. of Jamaica, L. I., which plans an apartment house development.

3 Voted Against
Action which resulted in the court decision originated with the 11th and 12th Ward citizens' groups. Republican aldermen Margolis, First Ward, Robert C. Schantz, Second Ward, and John Machione, 12th Ward, voted against the Epstein motion.

Machione, complaining of the condition of certain houses in his ward, proposed action that would require all phases of inspection before a property is sold. He also complained of lack of street repair in the ward.

The request for consolidation of the Colonial Gardens and Wiltwyck Gardens housing developments came from George E. Yerry Jr., Housing Authority chairman, who noted that the Public Housing Law requires local legislative action to approve consolidation.

Hold-up Miss.

slender former Air Force sergeant who broke the racial bar at the University of Mississippi in 1962, ended in the 27th mile, near Hernando.

He started, with a few companions on the theory that if he could walk through Mississippi unharmed it would prove to Negroes who live in the state that they could safely register as voters.

Reaction to the attack on Meredith was one factor in the large turnout of Negro voters in the state's congressional primaries Tuesday. It was a record — though less than Negro leaders had hoped for.

White candidates won handily, however. The Negro vote in the state, although up sharply due to federal registration, is not big enough to swing much political weight.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — Airlines, aerospace issues and coppers rose as the stock market staged a moderate advance early this afternoon on the lightest trading of the week.

Stocks were mixed at the start, resisting a continuation of Tuesday's fairly sharp decline.

Airlines were a little higher even at the beginning as they responded to steady, though limited demand. They widened their gains as their uptrend attracted attention.

Brokers saw the list as making another technical move in what will necessarily be a prolonged "base-building" process before a traditional summer rally can get anywhere.

The news background was blank of any new stimulation. Color televisions, electronics, coppers, some rails and chemicals also made progress but the rise was spotty.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.90 at 879.23.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .3 at 315.5 with industrials down .2, rails off .1 and utilities off .4.

Payroll Tax . . .

effort to two days. Both houses rang down the curtain after taking this action:

The Senate's Republican majority forced passage of Gov. Rockefeller's bill designed to replace the Condon - Wadlin Law with a more workable statute to discourage strikes by public employees. The Democratic - controlled Assembly countered by approving a rival bill, thus preserving the impasse on that issue.

Assembly Democrats, abetted by economy-minded Republicans, defeated eight Senate bills that would have restored $15.7 million of the $66 million cut last March from Rockefeller's $3.9-billion budget. Among the items were $9.5 million for a new men's prison near Kingston, $2.9 million for a State Police training academy and $2.4 million for Rockefeller's drive against air pollution.

At the same time, the Senate passed a measure that would restore a $25,000 budget item for expanding the staffs of state mental hospitals. The Assembly is unlikely to concur.

Ways and Means Chairman Harvey Lifset said during Tuesday's debate, however, that some of the money might be restored in the supplemental budget, submitted by the governor each year at the close of the legislative session.

With defeat of the Republican plan to raise New York property taxes by $130 million in the city's new fiscal year, the deadlock on the city revenue problem held firm.

Mayor John V. Lindsay and Travia had been pressing for a program keyed to a new city income tax, which would be imposed both on residents and commuters. The Legislature's Republican leaders, backed by Rockefeller, advocated the real-estate tax boost instead.

GOP sources said the party now would examine the possibilities of a settlement based on imposition of the city's present authority to levy a payroll tax at the rate of one half of one percent. Employers and employees would share the levy.

The existing law would be modified to bring self-employed persons under the law, at a rate of three-eighths of one per cent. In addition, the law would be changed so as to exempt the first $3,000 of annual salary. The law now exempts the first $1,200.

Calls It Bad Tax

Lindsay, like his predecessor, Democrat Robert F. Wagner, has been reluctant to invoke the payroll-tax power. The new Republican mayor maintains it is "a bad tax" because it disregards ability to pay.

Republicans estimate the tax would yield $100 million a year. Coupled with a new business-income tax, increased rates and yields from the stock - transfer tax and other measures, the city would realize about $300 million of the $420 million in new revenues it needs.

As an additional step, Republicans are pushing for a 10-cent increase in the city's 15-cent transit fare, which would produce $120 million.

Travia has frowned upon the payroll tax for substantially the same reasons as Lindsay.

The speaker brought the Senate - approved property tax measure to a vote after Rockefeller sent a special message to the Assembly asserting that "big real estate, utility and financial interests" were trying to kill the bill.

Travia had opposed the measure, and it was defeated by a vote of 108-52, with New York City Republicans joining Democrats in the negative.

Democrats argued that small homeowners would be hit hardest. They also questioned that the tax ever would be put into effect, since a State Constitutional Amendment would be required and this would have to be submitted to a voter referendum.

Republicans contended that the Legislature had an obligation to pass the proposal, because the city had borrowed $250 million against the prospect after last year's Democratic - controlled Legislature gave the plan initial approval.

Travia issued a statement later accusing Brydges of working a "cruel hoax" and tagging Rockefeller with "complete abdication of gubernatorial responsibility."

In a Senate floor speech, Brydges asked, "Am I guilty of a cruel hoax?" He answered his own question the cause of the ATDA shroud separation malfunction. The written procedures used by technicians at Cape Kennedy to ready the ATDA for flight were found to be insufficiently detailed to insure proper installation of lanyards attached to shroud separation mechanisms. As a result one end of the lanyards was not properly secured.

Behind the scenes: Douglas Aircraft Co. builds this type shroud under contract with Lockheed Aircraft Corp. Lockheed uses them for Agena rockets—which have been used as target vehicles for other Gemini flights. Douglas also builds and installs the shrouds for its own Delta space rocket. More than 70 have flown without any trouble before Gemini 9.

The original Gemini 9 Agena target failed to reach orbit when its Atlas booster failed. The makeshift, less-sophisticated ATDA was substituted.

McDonnell Aircraft Corp. makes the ATDA and requested that its technicians—instead of Lockheed's trained crew—be permitted to install the shroud.

NASA granted the request—although McDonnell had no experience with the shroud.

McDonnell's checkout and installation procedures were based on those established by Lockheed.

The Lockheed procedure book on the lanyard says that installers should be certain the lanyards are straight and refers to a drawing. The drawing shows how the lanyards should be installed to the disconnect plugs.

There is a question whether the McDonnell technicians included the drawing in their version of the procedures, or whether they overlooked it.

At any rate, they made certain the lanyards were straight—taping them instead of connecting them.

Officials said the pictures taken by Stafford and Cernan show the lanyards taped to the "angry alligator."

Another shroud was flown on an Atlas-Agena launched from Cape Kennedy Monday with a geophysical satellite. The Lockheed procedure had been redone to include written instructions on how to fit the lanyards.

Where the real blame lies is hard to determine. But men are human and rockets are complicated. Put them together and there are bound to be mistakes.

Hoffa spokesmen also claimed strong support for Hoffa's choice of Fitzsimmons from Teamsters' Councils in New York, Ohio, Indiana, Minnesota, Kentucky and Connecticut.

Fred Roberto, Connecticut Teamsters official, and William Presser, Ohio union chief, confirmed they would support Fitzsimmons.

Another Teamsters vice president, Gordon Conklin, said his St. Paul Council would cast its votes for Fitzsimmons. "I don't think there would be much of a fight," Conklin said. "I think it will be pretty much worked out."

But a Gibbons supporter claimed widespread national support among Teamsters groups, although declining to list them.

City Burglaries

Police were notified this morning of burglaries at Weishaupt's Market, 523 Delaware Avenue, and Lang's Market, 567 Abeel Street. An unknown amount of cigarettes was reported taken from the latter. Entrance was gained through a garage door and side window. Two rolls of pennies were reported taken from Weishaupt's. Entrance was gained by the breaking of a rear door.

No Changes Yet In News Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Chief mediator David L. Cole says the deadlock between the World Journal Tribune Inc. and the pressmen's union "washes out" the chances of settling the three-newspaper holdup this week unless there is "some sudden change on both sides."

Cole added Tuesday that he saw no reason to anticipate such a change.

John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, said the pressmen representatives maintained a "completely adamant position" in negotiations Tuesday.

The new corporation — formed in the merger of three papers — plans to publish the Herald Tribune on weekday mornings, the World Journal on weekday afternoons and the World Journal Tribune on Sundays. The impasse preventing publication is in its seventh week.

Wants 6½ Hour Shift
A key issue in the publisher-pressmen dispute is the union's demand for a 6½-hour shift on Saturday nights, when the new Sunday paper will be printed.

The corporation wants an eight-hour shift, the same as that in effect at the Times and News when they are publishing their Sunday papers.

Officials of the World Journal Tribune contend that a 6½-hour shift Saturday night would put them at a competitive disadvantage.

Gaherin said the pressmen's demands for a 6½-hour Saturday night shift and for uniform starting times would force the World Journal Tribune "to attempt to compete with a ball and chain around its neck."

"We have asked for nothing which is not permitted at the Times and the News," Gaherin said.

The new corporation was formed in the merger of the Herald Tribune, the Journal American, and the World-Telegram & Sun.

The World Journal Tribune Inc. and six of the nine craft unions have reached contract agreements.

The corporation is still negotiating with three craft unions and the Newspaper Guild of New York, the only union that has called a strike. It struck April 24, the day before the scheduled start of publication.

Gill, acting manager of Caldor's Northampton, Mass. store, is the new Stamford manager and Sederger has been promoted from assistant manager of Stamford to manager of the Northampton unit.

The three men have distinguished backgrounds in the retail field and are exceptionally well-qualified for their new positions, Mr. Elfren said.

Scholar Enjoys White House Fete

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Oh, gosh!" exclaimed an awestruck presidential scholar as he mingled with President Johnson's family and a dazzling array of the nation's top talent.

"It isn't every day a youngster can share a buffet supper on the White House lawn with astronauts, athletes, actors, Pulitzer and Nobel Prize winners, jazz idols — and even members of Luci Johnson's wedding party," he added.

But that's what 121 presidential scholars — outstanding high school graduates from every state — were treated to Tuesday night.

An outdoor variety show featured comedian Bill Dana, composer-recording artist Roger Miller, jazz star Stan Getz and Richard Kiley, star of the musical hit "The Man from La Mancha."

President Johnson assured the youngsters he didn't think their generation was silent, beat or shook up. "I believe in your spirit and your spunk — your zest and your zeal," he added.

He said he just didn't want to see them "pampered and without purpose," and dissenting without knowing why.

The youngsters shook hands with the President and his family.

Garraghan Sees Inconsistency In Traffic Vote

Those who voted for return of one-way traffic on two blocks of Clinton Avenue, Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan feels, are not consistent with approval of up-town urban renewal.

In a statement today, he said: "Should we forget about Uptown Urban Renewal? Perhaps the answer is yes, according to Uptown Business Men, and the Common Council.

"Louis Kaye of Traffic Committee for Uptown Business Men requested the Board of Directors to go on record against Clinton Avenue as a two-way Street which resulted in a telegram from Frank Kolts, president of Business Men's Association to Alderman Margolis. The telegram was a big factor in the Aldermen's vote on Clinton Avenue traffic.

"At a public hearing before the Common Council on Uptown Urban Renewal held July 1, 1965, a majority of taxpayers of the City of Kingston endorsed the Uptown Urban Renewal plan as presented.

"Those speaking for the Uptown Urban Renewal plan were: Mrs. Rose Downey, trustee of the directors of Central Business Men's Association; James McDonald, manager of WKNY; John Warren, executive secretary of Uptown Business Men's Association; George Svirsky of United Cut Rate Pharmacy, now president of Kingston Chamber of Commerce and chairman of Uptown Urban Renewal Economic Committee; Dewese DeWitt, executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association; Lewis Kaye of Kaye Sport Wear; Clifford V. Bunting of Kingston Luggage Shop, now chairman of Urban Renewal Advisory Committee; George Schneider of Schneider's Jewelry, also a member of Uptown Economic Committee; Dr. Charles A. Gaylon, and Henry Halterman, of Gulf Oil Corporation.

"After the hearing on July 13th the Common Council gave its unqualified approval of the Uptown Project, which included two-way traffic on Clinton Avenue.

"At last night's meeting of Common Council Alderman Margolis, Schantz, Naccarato, Primo, Sinsabaugh, North, Howard, Armater Machione, Davis voted contrary to a resolution adopted approving Uptown Urban Renewal.

"Epstein, Mancuso and Gallo voted to support resolution adopted by the Common Council on July 13th 1965.

"Now, most of the Aldermen in attendance in 1965 are still representing the city in 1966. Why the change in their vote?

"The Uptown plan is in execution and calls for Clinton Avenue to be a two-way street with access to the Plaza. Since the Uptown plan was adopted and approved in Washington, D. C., an access road to the plaza, principally at Westbrook Lane has been constructed, saving some $350,000 in Urban Renewal costs. According to my conversation with Urban Renewal Officials when a plan is in execution traffic pattern changes in the area, are to change immediately to insure the development of the area.

"The principal tax base in the future will be the area of the Plaza and Route 28."

Find Relic Stolen From West Point

MAHWAH, N.J. (AP) —

There's a military secret weapon under wraps here, but it isn't very new.

The weapon is an old muzzle-loading cannon which pranksters took from West Point, N.Y., and deposited on the lawn of Mahwah High School about 10 days ago.

It is secret only because police are keeping it hidden for fear that the pranksters will cart off the 700-pound gun again.

When the cannon turned up here, police contacted the U.S. Military Academy museum at West Point as a likely owner of the relic. The museum checked and found it was one cannon short at Trophy Point, a park area with numerous cannons on display. A museum official identified the gun and is arranging to have it returned.
